

according to documents in office the first sketch is evidently wrong. To wit: The E. corner of Chamberlain's survey, the N. corner of Miller's survey, the S. corner of Meisenheller's survey and the W. corner of Fowler's survey adjoining all in one point on the ground having all the same bearing trees and the surveys in the sketch below intends to represent said Fowler's survey. Now Mr. Cartwright's plat survey begins 960 vs. N. 60 E. of Meisenheller's S. corner and the Thomas plat survey begins at the W. corner of said Mr. Cartwright's survey running 950 vs. S. 60 W. consequently leaves only 10 vs. between Miller's survey and said Thomas survey, which appears in the sketch to be far more. Also in J. M. Hylie's survey not represented as its field notes demand. Dec 6/71
