I found no record of the Holloways surveys, and only the Field Notes of the Walling Survey.

I presume the red lines are old surveys.

W. J. S.

I, W. J. Spencer, County Surveyor of Harrison County, do hereby certify that the foregoing surveys are true sketches from the Maps and Records in the Land Office of Harrison County, given under my hand, at Marshall, this 15th day of June, 1857. W. J. Spencer, County Surveyor, H. C.

Marshall, Texas, June 15, 1857,

W. J. Crosby:

Sir, Some of the surveys of which you requested the connections are not laid down on the maps of Harrison County; these I mapped, in the sketches, from the field notes.

There are two old maps of Harrison County in my Office. When the one I usually use was so dilapidated or blotted that I could not possibly find a survey or its connections on it, I used the other - both, being though a little different, being delivered to me as Maps of Harrison County.

I also send you a sketch from a portion of an old "Connection Map," showing the connections of the J. C. Walling and Holloways surveys; which I sent you in pencil as soon as I discovered them. I now send them sketched with ink, as the others would not do in pencil. All these connections are as near correct as I can make them from the data I have.

Does the Law permit Deeds to be issued covering any number of acres from 1 to 160, including fractional parts of an acre, when such number of acres is all the vacant land to be found in that tract? Please answer soon. Yours respectfully, W. J. Spencer, County Surveyor, H. C.

W. J. Crosby, Comr Gen Land Office, 50474
