Re: Estate of Eula Trigg Twichell
Estate of W. D. Twichell

Ladies and Gentlemen:

The following is a resume of activities concerning these two estates insofar as they involved a handling and solution of legal matters and problems. Since the principal assets in both estates is the Twichell interest in the Yates Field property, the discussion which follows will primarily focus on that property because it is the primary source of income and has occasioned the most legal difficulties.

It appeared to Mr. Trigg Twichell in late 1974 that the Twichell interest in the Yates property was in jeopardy. That concern was caused by the fact that in 1971 the Texas Railroad Commission (which regulates oil and gas production in Texas) had called for a hearing on three separate applications filed by three large producers in the field (Exxon, Chevron and Shell) to change the proration formula in the Yates Field. If any of the formulae proposed by any of the applicants were adopted the result would have been a drastic reduction in the allowable production from small tracts in the field. (The Twichell tract is comprised of 3.97 acres). The Twichell tract reduction would have been from 575 barrels per day to about 16 barrels per day - in other words a loss of about 97% of the Twichell allowable - and income.

Mr. Trigg Twichell, with other small tract owners, had employed an attorney to represent them at the Commission hearings which lasted from April 22, 1971 through October 18, 1971.

However, as of the time when Mr. Twichell contacted me (1) no decision had been handed down and (2) steps had been taken to unitize the entire field, primarily by Marathon Oil Company.

Since Mr. Twichell knew the effect of possible success by the applicants, he wished to determine the effect of entering into the proposed unitization agreement and that necessarily occasioned a complete review of the Twichell title and related files, and a construction of various instruments, including the problem that arose because M.D. Bryant who had operated the property through the years, had died, and, without further agreement, the Executor and Trustee of his Estate, Mr. Bryant Williams, had continued to operate the Twichell interest in the lease following Bryant's death. Incidentally, your father, W. D. Twichell, had engaged in a rather long continued controversy with Mr. Bryant over what did - and did not - constitute items properly chargeable to Mr. Twichell's interest in the property.

The foregoing involved Mr. Twichell's and my going back over forty years to the beginning in 1933 and reading various documents, papers and letters - everything we could get our hands on - to determine the status of the Twichell interest. (A separate letter will cover some facets of this history).

Suffice it to say it was a long, tedious process. I always enjoyed my meetings with Trigg Twichell during this period. He filled in many gaps from memory, had many excellent suggestions, and he never failed to question me - and I might add with considerable persistence if I did not make myself clear. And believe me, all attorneys should, and this attorney does, appreciate that approach by a client.

The principal result of that extended study led to the conclusions that (1) we should revise the existing operating agreement with Mr. Williams, as Executor and Trustee of the Bryant Estates, to settle and eliminate all problems concerning Bryant's and his operation and at the same time to determine some basis for Mr. Williams's continuation as a representative (along with Mr. Trigg Twichell) of the Twichell interests if the Unitization Agreements became effective, and (2) based on all of the knowns we could put together, and after analyzing the variables, we tentatively concluded the Twichell interest should enter the Unit Operating Agreement, particularly in view of the impending peril of an adverse decision by the Railroad Commission on the three pending applications for reduction in allowables of small tracts.

We prepared a 53-page report and analysis for Mr. Twichell. To give some idea of the scope of the study made and of the matters involved,we attach to this letter the index to that report dated June 25, 1975. (Exhibit "A").

Following that,Mr. Twichell went to work on a solution to the Twichell-Bryant Estate Operating Agreement. Mr. Twichell had a number of discussions with Mr. Bryant Williams and they worked outthe settlement. Mr. Williams's attorney prepared an agreement which we read and revised and submitted to Mr. Williams who agreed thereto. It was signed on your behalf and by Mr. Williams and made effective as of December 1, 1975. It resolved all existing problems concerning that long standing Operating Agreement and the questions it presented.

In the interim,we continued working on other problems, including a Unitization Agreement. After analyzing the formulae employed in the Unit Operating Agreement, the existing price structure as prescribed by the Federal Energy Administration, and using all available information we had as to the reservoir and the amount of increase in economic recovery from the Yates Field resulting from unitization and what rate of flow would probably be allowed by the Railroad Commission, we determined the Unitization Agreements should be signed, and that was done in September, 1975. However, there remained the question as to whether the Unitization Agreements would become binding because there was not then the prescribed, requisite numbers of signatures by lease owners and royalty owners, nor had the State of Texas committed its royalty interest thereto, and there remained the Railroad Commission approval of the Unit Operating Agreement.

Following the death of your father in September, 1959, your brother Trigg Twichell, on confirmation by the County Court of Tom Green County, became Executor of W. D. Twichell's

Estate and when all debts and taxes had been paid, Mr. Twichell continued to manage your interest in the Yates Field property for each of you and for your mother under powers of attorney. The probate proceeding on your father's Estate, which was handled by a San Angelo attorney, was kept open for convenience and has never been closed, though it has long since been eligible for closing.

When your mother, Mrs. Eula T. Twichell, died February 20, 1976, that, of course, necessitated the probate proceeding in Travis County (Austin) involving all of her property, including her half interest in the Twichell interest in the Yates Field property, which thence-forward had to be handled separately by Trigg Twichell as Independent Executor of her Estate.

Three things were of paramount importance at that point: (1) Whether the Internal Revenue Service would approve the valuation placed on Mrs. Twichell's interest in the Yates Fiedl property; (2) the construction of W. D. Twichell's will and four codicils and Eula T. Twichell's will and three codicils, and the confusion and problems that arose therefrom, and (3) whether the proposed unitization of the Yates Field would be approved by the requisite number of lease and royalty owners, including the State of Texas as a royalty owner, and would be approved by the Railroad Commission of Texas.

We have sent you rather extensive letter-reports on these matters before, so we will not duplicate that information. (See our letter dated May 13, 1976 to the five Twichell children and to the grandchildren, both concerning the confusion in the wills and providing for a solution through the execution of an instrument; letter to Patricia Ward pertaining thereto dated August 14, 1976; and letter report to the five heirs concerning the status of administration of the Eula Twichell Estate dated June 30, 1976, and outlining in general terms what remained to be done).

In April 1976 Mr. Twichell and I attended a 2-day hearing on the proposed unitization before the Texas Railroad Commission which took testimony and heard arguments, through hearing examiners, pro and con on whether the Commission should approve it, and particularly, whether it should approve the raising of the M.E.R. (translating, that means the allowable) of the Yates Field from fifty thousand(50,000) barrels per day then in effect to one hundred thousand (100,000) barrels per day on approval of unitization.

At the conclusion of the hearing we felt that many of our remaining questions concerning operation under the Unit Operating Agreement had been put to rest and since the Unitization Agreement had our approval - that is the approval of the Twichell interest - we hoped the Commission would order approval provided it raised the M.E.R. from fifty thousand to one hundred thousand barrels of oil per day.

Later, the Commission did approve the Unitization and the Unit Operating Agreement and raised the M.E.R. to one hundred thousand barrels per day, and, since Marathon, the Unit Operator, then had the requisite number of signatures of lease and royalty owners, the unit became effective, and Marathon became the Operator of the Yates Field, July 1, 1976. (In a separate letter we will discuss how the calculations are made for your interest under the Unit Operating Agreement).

The changeover from separate operations to one unit operation with Marathon's operating personnel involved a drastic change. The properties had to be immediately inventoried and evaluated in accordance with prescribed standards. All oil in tanks had to be measured as of 7:00 A.M. July 1, 1976, and each piece of property had to be accounted for. From that date forward, Marathon Oil Company, as the unit operator, has operated all of the properties in the Yates Field (with minor exceptions) as one unit.

As to the unitized operations, Trigg Twichell has furnished each of you the two printed bound volumes, one called the "Unit Agreement" and the other called "Unit Operating Agreement" which spell out in detail the rights, powers, limitations, and duties of all of the parties. These two bound volumes constitute your contract with Marathon and with all other subscribing operators in the field. They should be carefully preserved.

In the interim, and as you know, the problems concerning the construction of the two wills and codicils of Mr. and Mrs. Twichell had to be solved. We prepared an instrument for the signature of the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Twichell by the terms of which the title to the total Twichell interest in the Yates Field property was to vest in the five children upon execution of the instrument by all children and grandchildren. All signed (with their spouses, where married) and this instrument was filed of record June 30, 1977 and is now recorded in Volume 518 of Pages 316-331, Lease Records of Pecos County, Texas (Fort Stockton, Texas, 79735). I suggest you write this filing and recordation data on the back of your copy. This instrument is binding upon each of you and your grandchildren now, and will become binding as to third parties when the Eula Trigg Twichell Estate is closed.

Suffice it to say, we believe if this had not been accomplished the difficulties in the future would have been both serious and costly.

During the Eula Trigg Twichell administration, Trigg Twichell, as in the past, has continued to handle and account for the W. D. Twichell 1/2 (community property) interest, as well as the Eula Twichell Estate interest, with the assistance and advice of Mr. R. E. (Bob)Eckert, C.P.A., of the accounting firm of Eckert, Story, Ransom and Ingrum, Petroleum Building, San Angelo, Texas 76901 (Phone 915-653-6702). As I understand, the W. D. Twichell interest has been carried as a "Partnership Interest" of the five Twichell heirs from 1959 to date, and that Estate will be closed and your respective 1/5 interest therein will be delivered over to you at approximately the same time you receive your 1/5 interest in the other one half (1/2) now held in the Eula T. Twichell Estate which we plan and hope to close in the next month or so.

The United States I.R.S. Estate Tax Return was filed and the federal tax was paid November 18, 1976, in the amount of $39,921.00, and was finally approved June 23, 1977. (Xerox copy of approval attached as Exhibit "B").

The Texas State Inheritance Tax Return was filed and Inheritance Tax in the amount of $1,932.00 was paid to the State Comptroller November 18, 1976, and was finally approved a short time ago - July 19, 1977. (Xerox copy of approval attached as Exhibit "C").

There remains to be done: (1) A final accounting must be prepared and filed in the Travis County Court (Austin) and an order must be obtained approving the accounting and closing the Estate, and discharging the Independent Executor; (2) an affidavit must be filed in the same Court by the Executor to embrace the same matter set forth in the application to the County Court; (3) a final affidavit must be prepared and filed in the County Court of Tom Green County in San Angelo, Texas, showing the W. D. Twichell Estate closed and discharging the Executor; (4) certified transcripts of each probate proceeding must be filed in the deed or lease records of Pecos County, Texas, in which County the Yates property is situated, and after these certified transcripts have been filed, they must then in turn be furnished to Exxon (which takes the oil runs and issues the payment checks) and Marathon (which operates the property and sends out the expense bills).

Other minor things remain to be done, but we will not burden you with a discussion of them. Fixing the date or dates for all this to coincide is difficult. It should all be accomplished by November 1, 1977 (hopefully October 1, unless we hit some unexpected delay or snag).

After the submission of the transcripts, and approval thereof by Exxon and Marathon of the title data submitted, you will thereafter receive your monthly run checks directly from Exxon and your respective billings directly from Marathon, and needless to say, the latter should be paid not later than ten days from date of receipt.

If you don't mind a suggestion: It would be adviseable to set up a simple bookeeping system on this Yates income and expense with provision for your recording each receipt of income from Exxon and each expense payment to Marathon each month. This will be of assistance to your accountant, who is familiar with the permitted expense and depletion deductions for tax purposes. Your preparation of this data under this system, with prompt entries, will automatically be complete at the end of the year. Needless to say, income checks should be promptly deposited on receipt.

A few words of caution: Mr. Eckert, who prepared the Estate's Income Tax Returns for the Eula T. Twichell Estate warns that the I.R.S. may question his taking accelerated depletion. If the I.R.S. successfully takes this position you could be required to pay the I.R.S. your respective part of the deficiency since the Estate will then be closed and will no longer have funds on hand to pay, and you thereupon become legally liable therefor when the properties are distributed to you. The possibility that the I.R.S. would ever come back and seek to reopen and question the Estate Tax Return is both faint and remote. (See second page of Exhibit "B", attached). We do not know of any debts that would remain after the distribution of the Eula Twichell Estate, for all remaining expenses, of whatever nature, including court costs and recordation data, will be paid, so far as known and determinable, prior to distribution.

When we meet I will present for signatures an instrument naming Bryant Williams and Trigg Twichell to represent and vote your interests in accordance with and as required by Article 3 (Page 2-4) and Article 4 (Page 4,5) of the Unit Operating Agreement.

We attach the following additional exhibits for your information and reference:

Exhibit D : Article from Ft. Worth Star-Telegram 10-30-68

Exhibit E : First draft of Final Accounting

Exhibit F : Humble Division Order Nov. 1, 1959, showing Twichell interest

In closing, we thank each of you for your ready responses and cooperation. You have been patient and understanding.

It has been a pleasure to be of service to all of you, and to work with Trigg Twichell, who has spent countless hours in administering these funds and protecting these two (2) Estates.

Now, we trust you will fully enjoy the bounty so thoughtfully provided by these inheritances from your parents.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Twichell:

Our computation of the Federal tax liability for the above estate is shown at the bottom of this letter. It does not include any interest that may be charged.

You should keep a copy of this letter as a permanent record because your attorney may need it to close the probate proceedings for the estate. This letter is evidence that the Federal tax return for the estate has either been accepted as filed, or has been accepted after an adjustment to which you have agreed.

This is not a formal closing agreement under section 7121 of the Internal Revenue Code. We will not reopen this case, however, unless Revenue Procedure 74-5, reproduced on the back of this letter, applies.

If you have any questions and wish to call us, the person whose name and telephone number are shown above will be able to help you. Since there will be a long-distance charge to you if you are beyond the immediate dialing area of the service center, you may prefer to write to us at the address on this letter or call any Internal Revenue Service office.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Sincerely yours,

Rules governing the reopening of cases closed after examination in the Office of a District Director

Rev. Proc. 74–5

SECTION 1. PURPOSE

The purpose of the Revenue Procedure is to restate and amplify the conditions under which a case closed after examination in the office of a District Director of Internal Revenue may be reopened to make an adjustment unfavorable to the taxpayer.

This procedure contains a listing of certain types of cases wherein reconsideration is not considered a reopening and makes clear that cases closed after examination by service centers require application of reopening procedures.

SEC. 2. SCOPE

This procedure pertains to all cases, regardless of type of tax, in which the prior audit and conference action, if any, did not extend beyond the jurisdiction of the office of the District Director. It does not apply to cases previously closed after consideration by Regional Appellate Offices of Regional Counsels.

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS

.01 Closed Case:

1. A case agreed at the district level is considered closed when the taxpayer is notified in writing, after district conference, if any, of adjustments to tax liability or acceptance of his return without change.

2. An unagreed income, estate or gift tax case is considered closed when the period for filing a petition with the United States Tax Court specified in the statutory notice of deficiency issued by the District Director expires and no petition was filed.

3. An unagreed excise or employment tax case is considered closed when the period for filing protest and requesting consideration by the Appellate Division specified in the preliminary letter expires and no protest or request for Appellate consideration is filed.

.02 Examination and Reopening:

1. Contacts with taxpayers to verify or adjust items disclosed on information returns, including items of income distributable to taxpayers by partnerships, fiduciaries, or small business corporations, and contacts with taxpayers to correct mathematical errors are not examinations or reopenings.

2. Reconsideration of a case is not considered a reopening and therefore, requires no approval or issuance of form letter L–153 if it involves:

(a) Cases involving section 1311 of the Code.

(b) Cases involving the year of deduction of a net operating loss carryback or similar type of carryback under other provisions of the Code.

(c) Cases in which there have been involuntary conversions and the taxpayer has not recomputed his tax liability because he did not replace the property within the time provided by section 1033 of the Code.

(d) Cases involving an overpayment in excess of $100,000, subject to consideration by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation under section 6405 of the Code.

SEC. 4. POLICY

.01 The Internal Revenue Service will not reopen any case closed after examination by a district office, service center or Office of International Operations to make an adjustment unfavorable to the taxpayer unless:

1. There is evidence of fraud, malfeasance, collusion, concealment or misrepresentation of a material fact; or

2. The prior closing involved a clearly defined substantial error based on an established Service position existing at the time of the previous examination; or

3. Other circumstances exist which indicate failure to reopen would be a serious administrative omission.

.02 All reopenings must be approved by the District Director or by the Director of International Operations for cases under his jurisdiction. If an additional inspection of the taxpayer's books of account is necessary, the notice to the taxpayer required by section 7605(b) of the Code must be signed by the District Director, or by the Director of International Operations for cases under his jurisdiction.

SEC. 5. EFFECT ON OTHER DOCUMENTS

This Revenue Procedure supersedes Rev. Proc. 72–40, 1972–2 C.B. 819.

Yates Pool Rewarded Geologist's Faith

By DAYTON BLAIR

TULSA (AP) — In 1926 they said "there is no oil west of the Pecos" — until Frank Clark proved them wrong.

It was 40 years ago Friday that the fabulous Yates pool was opened in Pecos County, Texas, about 50 miles east of Fort Stockton. The area, still producing, proved Clark right and proved that geologists belong in the oil business.

Clark retired 20 years ago as vice president of the Ohio Oil Co., now re-named the Marathon Oil Co., and lives in his ranch style home here.

He's listed as a consulting geologist but he admits he doesn't do much of it anymore. Barbecuing in his back yard and sometimes a round of golf hold his interest along with activities in the American Association of Petroleum Geologists. He is chairman of the advisory headquarters committee and is a former president of the association.

—Associated Press Wirephoto

FRANK CLARK

The story of the Yates pool began when Ohio Oil Co., through its subsidiary, Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Co., drilled three dry holes on a block of land near the Pecos River. Rather than risk a fourth hole, the company decided to pay a cash forfeit and abandon the venture.

But Clark, who had crossed the river where oil men said there was no hope, liked the geology he saw and convinced Ohio's home office to try again rather than drop the option.

The discovery well, No. 1-A Yates, flowed at a rate of 450 barrels a day. Later it was deepened and showed a potential of more than 72,000 barrels a day.

Still later the No. 30-A Yates flowed at the rate of 200,000 barrels daily, largest gusher in the world.

"I didn't have a bit of it," Clark said at his home.

Where the old-timers in the business wouldn't cross the Pecos River, Clark said, "I couldn't be bothered by that old saying."

Clearly visible on the surface were signs of an anticline of huge proportions. Because of that he insisted with the company that it drill on the Yates farm.

It was Friday the 13th in September, 1926, that Clark staked out the site at the apex of the anticline.

The struggling rancher, Ira Yates, became one of the richest men in Texas. He died in 1939 at San Angelo.

When the area was outlined, it covered more than 25,000 acres. A total of 632 wells were drilled and more than 500 still flow under natural pressure. Only 27 have been abandoned. Production at the end of 1964 had totaled 486,756,000 barrels.

Re: Supplemental AFE No. 55841
Deepen Yates Field Unit
Wells No. 4930, 7506 and 7507
Yates Field Unit
Yates Field
Pecos & Crockett Counties, Texas

Gentlemen:

Attached for your consideration and approval is Supplemental AFE No. 55841 in the amount of $50,000 to cover the "over-expenditure" which was incurred in deepening three Yates Field Unit wells. The original AFE No. 55841 was in the amount of $65,521. However, total expenditures incurred to complete this work were approximately $115,500 or $50,000 greater than our original estimate.

The discussion on the attached AFE indicates the reasons and/or categories in which the over-expenditures occurred. In essence, the time and equipment required to deepen these wells "under pressure" was greater than we had originally anticipated. The more recent AFE's which have been submitted to you, subsequent to the above work anticipate the higher costs to conduct deepening operations.

To complete our records, please indicate your approval of this supplemental AFE and return one copy to this office. If you have any questions or desire additional information, please contact Mr. C. A. Miller of this office.

Yours very truly,

D. E. Morris

This AFE is a supplemental AFE to cover the additional expenditures which were incurre during deepening operations on the subject wells. The initial AFE was in the amount o $65,521. However, actual cost of this work was approximately $115,500 or about $50,00 above our initial estimate.

Reasons for this over expenditure were:

1) Replacement of tubing and wellhead equipment not anticipated. (+$9,500).
2) Workover unit and related rental equipment required to deepen the wells was greater than anticipated. (+$27,000).
3) Wells were logged for geology data, cost of which was not included in the initial cost estimate. (+$10,500).
4) Brine water requirements for well control was greater than anticipated. (+$2,

Re: The Twichell Estates

Ladies and Gentlemen:

This letter supplements my letter to you dated August 1, 1977. An appropriate sub-title might be: Where Did This Come From And How Do You Figure It.

The principal reason for all of us being here today on August 4, 1977 is an important event that occurred just a little over 44 years ago: The signing of an instrument by your father, the late W. D. Twichell, and the late M. D. Bryant on June 12, 1933. Mr. Twichell then held the oil and gas lease on this property, and by the terms of his agreement with Mr. Bryant, he assigned a portion of that title to Mr. Bryant, with a provision for reassignment at a future date. Thereafter, Messrs. Twichell and Bryant signed the other agreements, one on August 12, 1933, and the last one on December 11, 1933 in which A. R. Eppenauer joined. These instruments created the interest you now share in the Yates Field property. I imagine Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Twichell would be gratified and pleased to see you today sharing a bounty which is probably far more than ever anticipated, and which has resulted from those agreements, bearing in mind that 1933 was a severe depression year; the price of oil was less than a dollar a barrel (It went to ten cents a barrel at one time) and there was no effective transportation systems to move the Yates Field oil.

After the signing of those 1933 agreements, W. D. Twichell owned 13/28ths of the 7/8ths leasehold estate, or, .406249999 (40.62%) of the income and about 46.42% of the operation cost. Later, some people named Brown (T. A., J. N., and C. W.) and A. E. Wood filed suit against Mr. Twichell in the District Court in Pecos County claiming an interest in your father's interest. That suit was settled when your father on November 2, 1935 assigned to those four people an "overriding royalty interest" in the amount of 14.76923% of his 13/28ths of 7/8ths interest. Stated another way, in decimal fractions, the Browns and Wood together received a "free" interest of 0.5999996, or, rounded off, .06 or 6% interest, and that left your father with a .34625 interest in (34.625%) the production.

Simply stated: An overriding royalty is an interest in the lease (as distinguished from an interest in the 1/8th royalty) but one which does not have to pay or contribute to the cost of drilling, production, or operation.

So here, and at this point, while W. D. Twichell had left a right to 34.625% of the production, yet, he had to continue to bear the expense of that portion conveyed to the Browns and Wood: In other words, after this assignment he still had to pay .464285714, or, about 46.4285% of the operational cost as before despite his lessened income. (The assignment did provide that the Browns and Wood had to pay the ad valorem and production taxes attributable to their interest.)

Then, you will recall, there was the other lawsuit in Travis County, (Austin): Greenwood and Robertson sued Mr. Twichell in the 98th District Court of Travis County, Texas (No. 56430). A judgment, based on a settlement, was entered February 8, 1936. By the terms of that judgment Mr. Twichell's interest was determined to be, and he was awarded, 21.3743733% of 13/28ths of 7/8ths. To state these figures as single decimals fractions, it simply meant that Mr. Twichell was then entitled to receive .086833391, or, rounded off, .0868340 (or 8.6834%) interest in the total production, but he remained obligated to pay a higher percent of the expense, for he had to take care of his proportion of the expense attributable to the royalty interest. His expense liability then amounted to 12.88350%, or .1288350 of the lease operating expense.

Today, those same figures are used even under unitization, though applied against a new formula.

For those interested, and who may have forgotten math - and some folks truly hate it - I will run through these calculations and try to make them simple and understandable. If you want to take a nap, play tennis, or go out for a short beer, feel free to do so - just save what follows for someone down the line, like another lawyer or accountant, or future owner, or even some curious stranger, who at some distant and remote date, may either need to know or like to know just how all these figures are put together.

I find a few simple definitions help:

> ROYALTY INTEREST: Customarily, that is the interest in the oil and gas the landowner keeps for himself (reserves to himself) when he executes the lease. Here, the royalty is 1/8th. The royalty owner pays no part of the drilling, production or operation costs. He gets his 1/8th free.

LEASE INTEREST: What the lessee or lease owner gets. Here, 7/8ths of the production, but the lessee must pay for 8/8ths (100%) of the drilling, production and operation costs because the landowners 1/8th is free of this expense.

OVERRIDING ROYALTY INTEREST: Has been heretofore defined.

FRACTIONS: I don't think anyone really knows how it started, but it has long been the custom for oil men to take leases providing for a 1/8th royalty for the landowner. They think in terms of 8ths. I am sure you have heard the dog-eared story about the oil man who offered an Oklahoma Indian a lease which provided for 1/8th royalty: The Indian said he wouldn't take anything less than a tenth. The Indian didn't know where his profit was, but sure had a good grasp of the metric system. Anyway, of course our money is measured in 10ths, not 8ths. So, all purchasers and lease operators have to constantly convert these 1/8ths (or 1/32nd, 1/64th, etc.) to 10ths, so they can make computations to accord with our metric monetary system.

I doubt if any of you have forgotten, but just in case you haven't recently used a slide rule in changing your recipes, we will demonstrate (excepting, of course, Trigg Twichell who deals in this daily): To convert 8ths (1/8) to 10ths: Divide the top number (called the numerator by the professors) by the bottom number (denominator) 8, thus:

   ---------
8 | 1.000
    20
    16
     40
     40
     --

so, 1/8th = 1 ÷ 8 = .125 (or 12.5%)

or, 7/8th = 7 ÷ 8 = .875 (or 87.5%)

or, 13/28 = 13 ÷ 28 = .464285714

That same rule applies to all other fractions, thus

57/194 = 57 ÷ 194 = .293814432 (or 29.38%)

Now, with that fascinating side trip into the land of numbers behind us, we will go to work on the Twichell interest in the Robertson 3.97 acre lease in the Yates Field.

After W. D. Twichell's transactions with Messrs. Bryant and Eppenauer, he owned 13/28 (.464285714) of 7/8 (.875) leasehold estate. We wish to know what this means in decimals and percentages of production so the income and expenses can be calculated.

The next step, then, is to calculate 13/28 of 7/8. Divide 13 by 28 = .464285714; then divide 7 by 8 = .875. (In fractions: "1/8 of" means "1/8 times" [x].) So now we simply multiply .464285714 by .875, and we find that gives us .406249991, or, 40.625% of the income.

[Example: If the well had produced an income of a hypothetical $10,000.00, Mr. Twichell would have been entitled to (rounding off) .40625 x 10,000.00, or $4,062.50]

However, since Mr. Twichell's interest had to bear his share of the "free" royalty owners' exempt portion of the expense, Mr. Twichell would still owe 13/28 of 8/8 (100%) or, .464285714 of the total expense.

[Example: If the expense for one month was $2,000.00, Mr. Twichell's bill would have been .46428571 x $2,000.00 = $928.57]

At that point, Mr. Twichell's interest was:

INCOME	EXPENSE
.406249999	.464285714

You will recall that Mr. Twichell conveyed an overriding royalty interest to the Brown's and Wood amounting to 14.76923% of 13/28 of 7/8 (free of operating expense which Mr. Twichell had to continue to bear). Back to our fractions and conversions:

.1476923 x 13/28 x 7/8 =
.1476923 x .464285714 x .875 = .05999996, or, to round off: .06, or 6%

So, Mr. Twichell gave up 6% of his income but remained liable for the same amount of expense as before he conveyed the override to Brown's and Wood.

Thus at this point, Mr. Twichell's income and expense figures were as follows:

INCOME	EXPENSE
.406249999	.464285714
- .06	(same as before)
.346249999

You will recall there was a suit in Travis County between Greenwood-Robertson and W. D. Twichell, a settlement was reached and the judgment entered on February 1936. By the terms of that judgment Mr. Twichell was awarded 21.3743733% of 13/28 of 7/8. So, back to the decimals:

.213743733 x .464285714 x .875 = 086833391, or rounded off (as the division order writers and the oil purchasers have done in most instances) .0868340, or, Mr. Twichell then had left 8.6834% of the production and income from the Field, but he still had to bear his proportionate part of the operating expense attributable to the original royalty interest and to the additionally created overriding royalty interest. Through the years, Humble (now Exxon) has computed this figure as .1288350. I get a slightly different figure but the difference is so small it can be disregarded.

So, from the time of the Robertson judgment in 1936 forward, the figures attributable to the Twichell interest in the Robertson lease have been constant and are as follows:

INCOME	EXPENSE
.0868340 (8.6834%)	.1288350 (12.8835%)

Those were the Twichell ownership interest figures as of the time your interests were committed to the Unitization Agreement.

The purpose of unitization is to hopefully accomplish a greater ultimate recovery of oil and gas from the reservoir. To do this, the entire field is operated as a unit, and property lines are disregarded. Customarily, in unitization all lease and royalty owners in the field commit their interests to each other so that each owner will share his proportional part of the production regardless of where the oil is actually produced in the field. The unitization agreement must provide some means whereby your ownership in an individual property is translated over to an interest in the total production from the unitized field. And, various formulas have been used to accomplish that purpose.

In the Yates Field, the unitization as to each tract is based 50% (1/2) on the proportion that the allowable assigned September 1, 1974 proration schedule bears to the total allowable to all tracts in the entire field based on the same proration schedule. The other 50% is expressed as a percentage, and is based on the ratio the "gross acre feet" (adjusted for quality) under a given tract bears to the gross acre feet credited to all of the tracts in the unit.

Let's now work that out. On the September 1, 1974 proration schedule the Robertson lease had an allowable of 575 barrels per day, and the total Field had an allowable of 50,003 barrels per day. So, as before, we divide 575 by 50,003. That gives us .0114993. But, since only 50% (or, 1/2) of the unitization formula is calculated on that particular basis, we take 50% of that figure of .0114993, and the resultant figure is .0057496.

The engineers and geologists calculated that the gross acre feet underlying the Robertson 3.97 acre lease was 1,648 gr. ac. ft.. They computed the total gross acre feet in the unit to be 3,584, 047.49 gr. ac. ft. So, as before, we divide the smaller number by the much larger number and we get .0004598, but, since under the unitization formula that only applies to 50% (or, 1/2) of the production, we divide that number by 2, (50%) and the resultant is .0002299. We then add the final numbers from each one half of the formula together and we get a figure of .00597957, which is the tract participation interest in the total field production.

Bear in mind that is a figure for the whole Robertson lease. We now have to determine the total twichell interest in the tract.

We now go back to the total Twichell interest under the Robertson lease, before unitization, and you recall that was the familiar figure of .0868340. The total Twichell interests get that same percentage of the tract participation under the unitization formula as they had before. So we multiply: .0868340 x .00597957 = .00051923 (income). Total Twichell income factor.

Each Twichell Heir income

To compute expenses under the unitization agreement: You will recall that the Twichell expense figure was .1288350 when the Robertson tract came into the unit. We multiply that same figure by the tract participation figure, as follows:

.1288350 x .0059757 = .0077038, and the total Twichell interest is liable for that portion of the total unit expense. Total Twichell Expense factor

Now to compute your respective interests:

Let's take the income figure again: .00051923. You will each get one fifth (20%) of that amount in income. Again, as to expenses you will each be liable for one fifth of .00077038 of the expenses.

Now let's simplify all this: As to income, your (a) 1/5 (20%) of the total Twichell interest figure of (b) .086834, and the Tract Participation Figure of (c) .00597957 remain constant. Therefore, once you have worked the multiplication of those three figures you will come up with one number you can use hereafter and avoid using all three.

We do that this way: 1/5 = 1 ÷ 5 = 20% = .20

.20 x 0868340 x .00597957 = .000103846 ✓ each Heirs Income Ratio

See

45

Illustrations in using Lock-in Ratio shown on Cover of this Report T.T 9/26/77

So, hereafter, as to income, you will "lock in" on one number. Example: You learn that the field has produced 100,000 barrels a day for thirty days and that the price of oil is $8.27 per barrel. You just multiply 100,000 x $8.27 x 30 days and find that the total value of the production for that month is $24,810,000.00. You then want to know how much of that income you get. Simply use your "lock-in" number and you multiply your "lock-in" number of .000103846 times $24,810,000.00 and you will find that your month's income is $2,576.42. Here, for simplicity, we have not taken into account the Texas "Gross Production" Tax of 4.6% (.046) of value.

It works the same way as to the expense figure. You multiply (a) your 1/5th (20% or .20) times the total Twichell expense number of (b) .1288350 times the tract participation of (c) .00597957. Since those three figures remain constant, we multiply that once and come up with your permanent, "lock-in" expense number, which is .000154075.

Suppose you learn that the expense of operating the field for one month is $900,000.00. You multiply your "lock-in" number of .000154075 times $900,000.00 and you will find that you owe $138.67. The "lock-in" number is permanent, unless you change your ownership.

We direct your attention to the term "gross acre foot". As you know, an acre is a flat surface. An acre foot is one acre of land one foot deep. Two acre feet can either mean two acres one foot deep or one acre two feet deep. Gross acre feet, used in oilfield reservoir engineering, means the estimated total number of acre feet (volume) in the reservoir under a particular tract, (or underlying the field), regardless of whether all of those acre feet will be productive of oil. Net acre feet means only those acre feet in the reservoir which are estimated to be productive of oil.

To apply this concept to the Marathon formula in the Yates Field, and to your tract in particular: Marathon credits the Robertson lease tract with 1,648 gross acre feet. Since you know the number of acres in your tract and you will wish to know the depth of oil producing zone that Marathon has credited to the tract, simply divide 1,648 by 3.97 acres and you will find that the Robertson lease has been credited with 415.11 feet depth in the reservoir under the 3.97 acres.

We now need to turn to math without numbers and to call your attention to the obvious. The present posted price of oil in the Yates Field is $8.27 per barrel. However, the price of oil is subject to change. The price is presently regulated by the United Stated through the Federal Energy Administration but there is a bill pending in Congress which would place this authority under a to-be-created Secretary of Energy.

The rate of flow from the field is also subject to change. The flow rate is subject to regulation by the Texas Railroad Commission. The flow rate is also subject to temporary decrease from equipment, production and transportation difficulties. It is also subject to permanent decline down to 0 because the oil in the reservoir as produced is not replaced. It is a constantly diminishing capital asset.

Without going into detail, as mentioned, a principal purpose of unitization is to get a greater ultimate recovery. This is accomplished in a variety of ways, but primarily by the technique of replenishing or sustaining the energy source which moves the oil to flush it toward the well bore to get oil out of the reservoir which otherwise would never be produced. (The terms "gas injection", "pressure maintenance" and "water flood" relate to these techniques).

These last cautions are only to remind you that your income may fluctuate, and that it will decline, and that it will ultimately cease altogether - but this last prosepect is some years off.

It is our belief that a well-conceived and executed unitized operation of an oilfield offers the best available method now existing to obtain a greater ultimate recovery of oil and gas through efficient reservoir management.

The Yates Field is one of the finest. We trust it will be operated in such a manner as to yield the fullest measure of its irreplaceable treasure.

If in this letter in carrying you through some of the calculations I have sounded like a third-grade pedagogue forgive me! This is one of my foibles. In dealing with something new, or even in refreshing on something old, I have a firm belief in starting with fundamentals. AUSTIN, TEXAS 78722

July 2, 1975

Mr. Charles Cassada
1700 S. Polk Street
Amarillo, Texas 79107

Dear Charles:

Attached are the following:

1. Twichell Survey Records Committee - Articles of Agreement Oct. 30, 1959, by the Atlantic Refinery Co., Continental Oil Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Humble Oil & Refinery Co., Mobil Oil Co., and Sinclair Oil & Gas Co.

2. Representatives of the Twichell Records Committee as of Jan. 1, 1960.

3. Alphabetical and numerical list of Texas Counties.

4. Texas map showing Counties in which W. D. Twichell surveys and related professional work were performed.

My father's professional records of "Surveyors Field Books," "Surveyors Maps" prepared by him or under his supervision, and maps by others which he used in his operations, and "his original letters or copies" and those received by him in his professional operations, are properly indexed and maintained by the "Representatives of the Twichell Records Committee" at Midland, Texas.

Mr. W. S. Westerfeld of Humble Oil & Refinery Co. (Exxon) is a member of the Twichell Records Committee now. It is my understanding that most of the original members of this group are still active.

Yesterday I tried to contact Mr. Westerfeld by phone and learned that he is on vacation and expects to return to Midland July 4. I was told by an Exxon associate of his that the Committee would probably be very cooperative in furnishing copies of my father's maps and correspondence that we consider appropriate as permanent exhibits in the Panhandle Shrine.

I anticipate our obtaining copies of his subdivision maps of early Amarillo, County line survey of Potter County, his 1886 map of Tascosa, letters and other appropriate material. Using my Father's original index, which I have, and the index prepared by the Survey Records Committee, which I have too, we should have no trouble selecting proper material for the Amarillo exhibit.

I will contact Mr. Westerfeld after July 4 to confirm the above statements. Then I think it appropriate that you and/or Mr. Hagey write the proper person describing your Heritage Project and the type of records you would like to have. I will be pleased to assist in any way I can.

Sincerely yours,

The Forgotten Twichell

by Steve Woodward
Research information provided by Charles Cassada and Hugo Loewenstern

The Twichell home as it appears today.

The significance of the old house at Eighth and South Pierce has over the years remained largely forgotten by Amarilloans—so has the man who first lived there.

"It was just sitting there unknown," said Charles Cassada, one-time Amarillo realtor, now of Brownsville, Texas. Cassada, along with fellow city realtor Hugo Loewenstern, discovered in 1975 the historical aspects of the home and its builder while making plans to convert the entire block into a complex for senior citizens.

Cassada said the plans called for the removal of the house which was built about 1903. After some research, Cassada said it was "just loaded with history."

The home's first occupants were the Willis D. Twichell family. Twichell was a young engineering graduate who arrived in Big Spring, Texas in November, 1885 from St. Louis.

Twichell's first job in Texas was to stake out Garden City. However it is reported that some of the cowboys in the area wanted the town on land that they owned, so taking matters into their own hands, they proceeded to move it, name and all, three miles to the northeast where it stands today.

While in Big Spring, Twichell met W. S. Mabry, who in 1873 had been a member of one of the first surveying parties in the Texas Panhandle. Mabry was employed by the Capitol Syndicate, owners of the XIT Ranch, and had orders to survey fence lines and to provide water by locating and drilling an artesian well every five miles for the 20,000 cattle that were to arrive in a few months. Mabry was looking for someone who was an engineer and who had his own instruments. Twichell was offered the job, and he accepted. The party left for the XIT Ranch on January 26, 1886.

Twichell was put in charge of a surveying party, which in one summer enclosed two million acres of the untamed prairie. His experience on the plains brought him into contact with sandstorms and prairie fires. He saw buffalo, wild mustangs, and large herds of as many as 500 antelope.

Once he came onto a group of Indians while riding to purchase a bunch of nails at the nearest store 63 miles away. The more than 100 Indians, dirty and ill-kept, had slipped from the reservation and Twichell was afraid they might think he was a government official. One of the Indians came forward though and invited Twichell to eat with them. Twichell declined, saying that he was not hungry. Leaving the Indians, he continued his journey on horseback, bought the nails and returned to the surveyor camp.

After completion of the work on the XIT, Twichell decided to settle permanently in the Panhandle and moved to Tascosa in March 1887. While there he drew the original colored map of the now extinct town.

Meanwhile Amarillo was fast becoming the business center of the Panhandle, and in 1890 Twichell moved his offices there. He became Potter County surveyor and during the following years he established county lines, made plats for new townsites and participated in all types of engineering needed in the newly populated area.

Twichell made original plats for La Plata, Deaf Smith County and for Channing. He planned and marked lines for the new county seat of Deaf Smith, Blue Water. But, because another city of that name was on the records, the post office deparment objected and the town became known as Hereford.

In 1888, H. B. Sanborn, who established the present site of Amarillo, had two of his real estate agents draw the original plans and roughly stake out the townsite. In 1889, Twichell was called upon to carefully stake out the original town of Amarillo as it stands today.

During the years 1889 to 1900, after Twichell had served as compiling draftsman at the state land office, he retraced state boundary lines between Texas and Oklahoma and between Texas and New Mexico. He made slight adjustments to the New Mexico line. These lines have continued to be accepted as state boundaries.

Twichell became state surveyor under a special act and his job was to locate and survey state school lands in Andrews, Crane, Gaines, Loving, Reeves, Ward, Winkler and other countries. In 1902 he returned to Amarillo and was district surveyor there for several years.

In what was perhaps the first double wedding in Amarillo, W. D. Twichell and Eula Trigg of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Stanley were married in 1895 in the little frame Baptist church on Pierce Street.

The town's streets at that time were infested with hogs whose favorite abode was under the church which stood high on wooden blocks. Members of the congregation were often irritated by the fleas, but Twichell has no recollection of any such discomfort that day.

That same year the high school became disorganized and several city residents asked Twichell to form a private school for their children. He agreed and taught about 30 students. Little did he realize that from this school Amarillo College would have its beginning.

Classes were held in a small building near the Twichell home until 1897 when the idea of converting the school into Amarillo College took form. That summer two warehouses were moved to a vacant lot at Twelfth and Polk where classes began with five classrooms and an auditorium. But in 1897 it was decided to close the school because of lack of facilities.

Twichell was one of several men who helped organize the Amarillo Daily News in 1907 or 1908.

The Twichell family moved to Austin in 1918 and later to San Angelo. Twichell died in 1960.

The large two-story home he built at 716 South Pierce is typical of the architecture of its day. The most striking feature of the exterior is the large covered porch which runs the length of the front of the house. Double white columns flank the steps and at one time the porch was enclosed with an ornately constructed banister. The south side of the house also had a porch which has since been enclosed and made a part of a room.

The interior of the house has been changed up somewhat over the years, but much of the beauty Twichell put into it is still clearly visible.

The house originally had an "entry room" with double french doors leading into the parlor and dining room. The wooden staircase led from the entryway to where at least four bedrooms were located upstairs. A stained glass window once located at the stairs landing allowed colorful sunlight to stream into the entry. Original wooden-covered ceilings and beams give the house a warm appearance throughout most of the lower level. The dining room features a large built in hutch and matching fireplace that are made of the same reddish-colored wood as is the ceiling.

Most of the house is furnished with beautiful old furniture which together with the original house design, almost makes the visitor feel as though he's living in the past.

The history connected with the Twichell home, like many other old structures in Amarillo, are often lost in the obscurity of time—for it has been nearly 60 years since any Twichells lived in Amarillo.

But Cassada, who has done extensive research into the home and its first family shared a simple thought that could also apply to other structures which help to tell the history of the area, "it's just too much of a historical home to demolish."

The August issue of ACCENT WEST will go further into the story of the Twichell home located at Eighth and South Pierce. Photos showing the interior of the house as it is today will be featured and questions regarding the future of the home as a historical monument will be discussed.

The Forgotten Twichell Home

Part II

By Steve Woodward

The Twichell home as it appears today.

Last month ACCENT WEST began a two-part series on a historically significant home in Amarillo that has nearly been forgotten.

The house, located at Eighth and South Pierce, was first occupied by Willis D. Twichell, a man who contributed much to making the wild prairies of West Texas a livable place for settlers.

Part I discussed Twichell himself —the XIT Ranch's need for a surveyor that brought him to the Panhandle, and his decision to make his home there; his eventual settlement in Amarillo and the many contributions he made to the city.

Part I also discussed the beauty of the home as it was when Twichell built it and as it is today.

It's one of the few left downtown — a relic of days gone by.

And yet it faces possible future demolition or extensive alteration if the structure remains unprotected against such action.

The Twichell home at Eighth and South Pierce was once the home of the Willis D. Twichell family. It was built about 1903 by Twichell who came to the Panhandle in 1886 as a pioneer surveyor. Twichell helped survey the XIT Ranch; several West Texas cities, including Amarillo and Tascosa; and helped establish the first Amarillo College and the Amarillo Daily News.

The grey and white two-story structure, once built in a quiet residential section of Amarillo, is now in the bustling, busy downtown area — only a block from the new First National Bank Building and only three blocks from the Civic Center complex.

Because of its location, Jerry Hollingsworth, Amarillo attorney and chairman of the Potter County Historical Commission, said, it "probably has more prospects of becoming a museum or something than nearly any other location that's available right now in Amarillo." The thing standing in the way, though, seems to be money — the lack of it on the part of the historical societies.

The two historical societies in the area are the Potter County Historical Commission, of which Hollingsworth is chairman; and the Amarillo Historical Preservation Foundation (AHPF), of which Rufus Gaut, Amarillo realtor, is president.

The County organization places historical markers at historically significant places. The AHPF is a private foundation operated solely through donations. Its purpose is to purchase historical structures, preserve them, and keep them in use.

The living room, showing the wooden ceiling and beams.

Hollingsworth expalined that since the Amarillo area is a much newer part of the state than further into south and central Texas, the historical societies here are newer and consequently lacking in funds. Hollingsworth said the AHPF, in which he is also involved, began at the time when the old Ware home at Eleventh and South Polk was torn down. He said the organization came into being to help prevent such structures from being demolished in the future.

There appears to have been a misunderstanding between the historical societies and the agents working to sell the Twichell house. The agents contend the societies passed up a $50,000 gift from a wealthy Houston man to help buy the home. The societies state that the agents were trying to sell the house and the surrounding property for twice that amount. "We couldn't buy what we wanted . . . for a fair price," Hollingsworth said, "so we just backed out of any dealings on the thing." The agents denied this charge, though, stating that the gift would amply cover the property.

Dining room with original built-in hutch.

And so the future of the Twichell home remains in limbo.

At present there seems to be more prospects for a brighter future than there was two years ago when negotiations were under way to preserve the home. Hollingsworth said, "We have made some progress with the Potter County Historical Commission on tentative plans to do a historical survey for Amarillo." The study would find which sites are considered historically significant, and which are not. Both historical organizations could make use of the information gained by the County, he said.

As the AHPF continues to grow and expand, it could develop into an aggressive organization like those found in the older cities, Hollingsworth said. He cited the society at Galveston, Texas, as an example of the success that can be achieved by such organizations.

"About 60 per cent of their properties come from older families that are well-to-do and are the last family members occupying the property and they contribute it to this organization." The people know the society will preserve the family history and the home exactly as it was when the family lived there, he said.

The society at Galveston will then sell the home with the provision that the exterior off the structure not be changed in any way.

Hollingsworth explained that this type of operation is good for the cities where this happens because the refinished homes are more attractive. Younger families move into these "preserved" neighborhoods and consequently you have the resettlement of an old section of town.

The uncertain future of the Twichell home is echoed by the walls of many other old structures in the area. Steps have been taken, though, as area residents have become alarmed at the destruction of these structures, to hopefully preserve for future generations these relics of our past.

Dear Miss Hamner:

I have read your ~~Broadc~~ lectures. one, two, ~~and~~ three ~~of~~ as you have delivered them. I find you have been faithful to the original facts. the very few errors are not material ~~and~~ do not mar the story. I think the stories are well told. unfortunately Our omission if supplied might help some, one is pictured in a prairie fire that is impelled by a 70 miles per hour wind. When the boys were handed their boxes of matches they were instructed to strike a handful ~~at~~ as many as they could grasp - at once time, ~~in~~ scratching ~~them~~ on the sole of their shoes. ~~for~~ Match boxes had no sand paper attached ~~to~~ in those days.

Dumas

I do not recall all of the pertinent facts about Dumas. Mr. Dumas with a group of men who were assisting him, came to Amarillo ~~and~~ employed me to stake out ~~and~~ file a plat in the County Records at Tascosa, which was the County Seat at that time. We employed a team, wagon, ~~and~~ Camp Equipment at Hartley. ~~and~~ then we drove directly toward the spot where Dumas afterwards appeared. There was no road. The H. & T. C. Block had been surveyed ~~and~~ marking two distinct corners for each section.

I knew the position of a dug-out - like - camp that was nearest to the surveying work we had to do.

I remember that we could not reach the spot before dark, ~~and~~ the "Rustler-fast" group could not be induced to unroll their beds under the canopy of stars. So I walked ahead of the wagon finding the correct course with no road- avoiding washed out gullies and "pour-overs"- until we reached our dug out and enjoyed its protection. I could have enjoyed the star-canopy much more, but such is life. We miss a lot of good living because we dread hobgoblins that never come.

If I can locate my field books and correspondence, I can be more certain of the dates and basic facts which established Dumas as a land mark.

I recall an incident when Dumas unquestionably was the smallest town in the world. There was a court house. They had no use for a jail. There were two stores, a post office, a wagon yard, a school and church and many resident houses, but not a soul "lived in Dumas." A new Texas law permitted a purchaser of school land to live on the land a part of the year, but he must claim the "dug-out" home as his permanent residence. Every head of a family had applied for his full share of land, so no resident in Moore County was "living" in Dumas. I am not able now to call the year this happened some lawyer can tell you when this land was passed and my trip was in July the year following. When three years residence on the land was "proved-up", the population of Dumas increased rapidly.

R-74551

It is a real town now. Plain paved roads lead to it. Go we so strangers and blundered into "pour-overs" to get to Dumas last November.

This county did not organize until 1920 & Dumas was platted & my original maps & field notes are in the County Clerk's office at Dumas. Can't find them at present.

Mackenzie Battles

Author (?)

In 1916, Col. Chas. A. P. Hatfield, a retired army officer living at Fort Riley, Kansas, wrote the following about the Mackenzie Battle: "In the summer of 1874 there was a serious outbreak of Indians on the Fort Sill Reservation. More than 600 warriors of the Comanche, Kiowa and Cheyenne tribes, with their families, became hostile and left the reservation, with all their worldly goods, for the Panhandle.

"The Government took prompt steps to suppress the outbreak. Colonel Nelson A. Miles, Fifth Infantry, , with a large force, was ordered from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Colonel Price, with a command, started from New Mexico, and Colonel George P. Buell from Fort Sill, all heading for the Panhandle.

"Those three commands met with more or less success, but failed to discover the main camp of the Indians or to give them a fatal blow. Colonel Ronald S. Mackenzie, Fourth Cavalry, at the time of the outbreak was stationed on the Rio Grande, with headquarters at Fort Clark. On receipt of his orders he moved north with his command through old Forts McKavett and Concho (San Angelo) to the scene of trouble. When passing through Fort Concho a Mexican halfbreed from New Mexico, named Johnson, applied to Mackenzie for employment as scout and was accepted. Johnson had been engaged in trading arms and ammunition for buffalo robes with hostile Indians on the headwaters of the Red River in former years and was the only one in the command who knew anything of the geography of the Panhandle. Later on his services proved to be invaluable.

"Marching out of Fort Concho and keeping a northerly course, Mackenzie's command, consisting of seven troops of the Fourth Cavalry, five companies of the Tenth Infantry and 35 Seminole scouts, arrived in Northwestern Texas early in September and established a supply camp on the Catfish Fork of the Brazos River. This camp was 180 miles west of Fort Griffin, whence our supplies were hauled by Army wagons. After a few days stay at this camp, which was utilized to send out scouting parties to locate the Indians, Mackenzie, leaving part of the infantry to guard the camp, started north again.

"We passed by a place of marshes, springs and small running streams called Quitaque, and finally ascended the steep bluffs of the Staked Plains and marched to the west.

The rainy season had come on and there was plenty of water, the swales and buffalo wallows of the plains being full.

"Mackenzie taking with him four troops, A, R, H, and L, and the Seminole scouts, moved out ahead, leaving the wagon train and the balance of the command to follow his trail. Late in the afternoon of the 24th of September we went into camp at the head of a small draw which led shortly into a rough broken canyon which ran down into the lower Tule Canyon. This camp was five miles east of the horse bones at the crossing of the upper Tule Canyon.

"The Mexican, Johnson, had been sent out alone a few days before to find the Indian camp. He had discovered the camp in the Palo Duro Canyon, 30 miles northwest of us, and had returned and made his report only 30 minutes before the full force of Indians made a furious assault on our camp at 10 o'clock that night. We knew in the afternoon that the Indians were near, and, expecting an attack, had made every preparation to give them a warm reception.

" The horses, on full lariat, were sidelined and in addition hobbled, to prevent a stampede, the entire command, lying on its blankets, in skirmish line, on the outside of the horses.

"The Indians, following their usual custom, at first attempted to charge through camp, to stampede the horses, but, while the charge was made with great determination, it was met with such effective fire that they had to desist from this mode of attack and establish themselves in the breaks about 300 yards from camp, where they fired until daylight.

"About midnight the wagon train with the remainder of the command arrived and went into camp about a mile from us. Strange to say, with thousands of shots fired into camp at short range, there were no casualties among our men. What casualties occurred among the Indians during the night we had no way of telling. It was a very bright moonlight night, a full moon, and being struck by this, I tested the light by bringing out of my saddle pocket a sheet of an old New York Herald, which I found I could read readily.

"When daylight came, with the Indians still in position on the broken ground just below camp, Mackenzie came over and ordered Captain P. M. Boehm, with Troop E, of which I was Second Lieutenant, to saddle up and charge the Indians. Captain Boehm had orders not to go farther than a mile, but in the excitement, and to protect a squad of his men a half mile to the left of us, in fact he kept up the pursuit about three miles. Of course, the reason that 600 Indians fled at top speed from one troop was that they supposed the remainder of the command was following us.

" After the swarm of Indians had debouched from the various ravines and deep gullies and started in a perfect skirmish line, nearly a mile in length, across the level plains, with Troop E in column of fours in pursuit and only 250 yards in their rear, a picture of the wonderful spectacle was formed in my mind which more than 40 years had failed to efface. The sun, rising in our rear, seemed to light up the entire line of hostiles, in their full dress of gaudy paint and feathers, as they turned in their saddles to fire at us, scurrying across the prairie in rapid flight.

"I recollect well saying to myself, 'Now look and take it all in, for with the rapid advance of civilization on the frontier the like of this I will never see again.' And my prophecy has come very near being true.

"Finally the Captain called a halt where we could see the Indians hastening to several herds, two miles distant to exchange their favorite war ponies for others of every day use. We had killed one Indian in his flight, a handsome fellow in gorgeous headdress. We then returned to camp, where we found preparations being made to pursue the Indians.

"At 1 o'clock p. m. we left camp with seven troops and the scouts and followed the broad Indian trail leading southwest. We proceeded leisurely, stopping occasionally to graze the horses, for our following the trail was only pretense, since Mackenzie knew that the Indians were trying to draw us away from their camp. As soon as it was dark everything changed. We left the trail and, under otherguidance of Johnson, marched at a good gait directly northwest at right angles to the trail, for the Palo Duro Canyon.

"About 4 o'clock next morning, the 26th, we came again onto the broad trail of the Indians, supposing they had eluded us and had returned to their camp. Knowing that we were quite near the Palo Duro, we came to a halt to await the dawn. At the first crack of day we mounted and moved on. Presently we saw, directly on our left, the dark winding course of the Canyon Cita Blanco, while in front of us, like a dark blotch on the prairie, was the Palo Duro.

"We very soon arrived at the head of a well-worn trail leading down into the gloomy-looking Palo Duro, and dismounting on account of its steepness, we went running down the trail, leading our horses. It happened that Troop E was in the lead, which enabled me to observe everything.

"After we had gone about 150 yards we ran into an Indian on guard, who instantly discharged his rifle, waved a red blanket and disappeared immediately afterward in a marvelous manner.

"When we arrived where the Indian had been we could see the effect of his signal. As far as the eye could see in the fast coming light, Indians were mounting their ponies and hurrying up the canyon.

"The first camp, a cluster of about 40 tepess, was directly under us. A stone easily could havebeen pitched into it, but so far below that the tepees, appeared ~~appeared~~ the size of a Half dollar and theponies were mistaken by some for sheep and by others for chickens.

"The first bunch of tepees was at the mouth of the Canyon Cita Blanco, and from there the camp extended two miles up the Palo Duro, with intervals between the many small camps scattered along the stream.

"After a half hour of tumbling and slipping down the long trail the head of the column reached the bottom, when the first two troops mounted and started in rapid pursuit. The Indians, though, had a good start of us and we were able to take excellent cover up on the rough sides of the canyon.

"We finally overhauled them, however, and being joined by the other troops, a fairly satisfactory fight ensued.

"On account of the alarm given by the Indian Sentinel, the squaws managed to escape capture, and orly four of their men were killed. However, the mian point was fully accomplished. The Indians had settled down in a snug winter camp with ample supplies. If these were destroyed they would be helpless when cold weather came and be compelled to return to the reservation and surrender their arms.

"All the camps , with the provisions of different kinds, flour, sugar, etc., drawn from the Indian Department, and quantities of buffalo meat, were destroyed and burned. In addition, about 1700 of their horses were rounded up and driven up the long trail and back to the head of Tule Canyon, where our wagon train, with its infantry escort, had arrived and established camp.

"On the following morning Mackenzie disposed of the captured ponies, horses and mules. Johnson was allowed to select 40 as his prize and others were given in less proportion to some of the more prominent scouts, and still others were distributed to the troops to replace horses which had succumbed to the hardships of the campaign.

"This left about 1450 to be disposed of and these were taken out and shot. Of course, this seemed cruel, but if Mackenzie had tried to keep them there would have been a stampede probably on some dark night by the Indians, when he would have lost them and probably some of his own cavalry horses besides.

"With their horses gone and their tepees and supplies destroyed, the Indians could not face a winter on the plains and shortly began journeying back to the reservation. Mackenzie remained in the country, harrying the Indians until he was sure they were returning to Fort Sill, when at the approach of cold weather, his command returned to Fort Concho and other posts for the winter."

on the Mackenzie Trail and battles:

Mr. Bruce Gerdes makes the following comment: "The reader will take particular notice to Hatfield's statement : ' We passed by a place of marshes, springs and small running stream called Quitaque, and finally ascended the steep bluffs of the Staked Plains and marched to the west' .

"This definitely placed the command below the cap-rock in the vicinity of the Quitaque Peaks and Quitaque, and after ascending the cap-rock they marched westward. Then: 'Late in the afternoon of the 24th of September we went into camp at the head of a small draw which led shortly into a rough, broken canyon which ran down into the lower Tule Canyon'. Without question this draw referred to can be no other that what we know as Rock Creek. If there could be any doubt as to the location of this camp one has but to take note of his further statement: 'This camp was five miles east of the horse bones at the crossing of the upper Tule Canyon'. In expressing it in that way Col. Hatfield knew full well, the location of the camp would not be guessed at, as all the early settlers of Swisher and Briscoe counties knew where the horses were killed. This relic of the slaughter, erroneously led the settlers to believe the battle occurred at the head of the Tule Canyon and called it the Mackenzie Battle Ground. These bones were long since hauled away by bone hunters. The true site of the battle being about four miles above the mouth of Canyon Cita Blanco (Little White Canyon) now called Ceta Creek.

"The main part of the engagement occurred on the north side of the Palo Duro creek just west of where Rush Creek converges with the Palo Duro; and on or near the dividing line between Randall and Armstrong counties. This, as the reader will understand makes a starting of a laid out route: One coming from below the caprock to the east. In support of our claim that the Trail (Mackenzie Trail) came by Soldier Mound and that there was a supplycamp there, we will quote Capt. R. G. Carter, retired, of Washington, D. C.. In 1927 Capt. Carter wrote a series of articles of his experiences while campaigning with Mackenzie, which were published in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. In the installment of March 20, he tells of a fight on Blanco Canyon in which one of the soldiers , Gregg, by name, was killed and they buried him at the foot of Mount Blanco. At this time Capt. Carter was himself suffering from a leg injury received in a fight a day or so previous. This he says was giving him considerable trouble and pain and Gen. Mackenzie wanted him to return to a supply camp. But to quote directly: ' It was impossible for me to go back 40 miles or more to Lawton's Supply Camp on Duck Creek'. Forty miles or more east from Mount Blanco is bound to go to the vicinity of Soldier Mound. Also Capt. Carter in his article further refers to Lawton as being their Quartermaster.

"It is a known fact that Mackenzie maintained a supply store on the southwest side of Soldier Mound, between its base and the bank of Duck Creek. Sign of it is very much in evidence 40 years ago. I saw the old camp equipment, army saddles, or parts of them, old dugouts and various relics of army life. A sharp defined series of paths and ruts came by the Mound -- the same trail as passing northward to the Quitaque Peaks and the head of Tule Canyon. Moreover, it was known and spoken of as the old Mackenzie Trail. Incidentally, years ago I cut this trail in and out in various sections from the head of Tule Canyon to Fort Griffin. It does not appear there would be much trouble and no great effort required to establish beyond question of doubt the authenticity of this route.

Mr and Mrs C.E.Lane
Amarillo, Texas.

Dear Mr and Mrs Lane:-

According with the promis which came with your former letter, that Miss Laura V.Hamner will send a copy of her broadcast. I now have receiveed the first three of her lectures, which includes the one to be delivered next Sunday and she has returned my manuscript copies, that I supplied to help her to better understand the details which she is discussing. She is following the facts faithfully with a very few minor errors, which are not material.

I have a number of friends in Amarillo and most of them have children and grandchildren now, so there may be a considerable audience that will have some interest in these broadcasts. Since I am responsible for the material furnished and the method of presenting it, I will be glad to know whether it is presented in an interesting and instructive form.

I have sought to present myself among a rashional public who lived on the Frontier with remarkable gentility and a high minded attitude that was diametrical with the bullying brutality which has been displayed as a necessary life on a Frontier. The blood and thunder, gun plays and murder that have been displayed as life in this era, were in fact no part of the real life on the Frontier, but were in fact the same insane expression of liquor soaked brains which exploded when groupps of low brow cow boys come to town intending to " suddenly grow rich in mind and have a good time" but instead developing a "Boot Hill", was a rare incident of ignorance on the Frontier, Just as it continues to be in our suposedly higher civilized communities, and just as it will continue to express, as long as men are licensed to poison men minds with liquor.

The real life on the Frontier was very hospitable, generous and unssually considerate of every need of every person who appeared on the scene regardless of nationality, color or creed.

I hope my stories can appear in this wholsome, interesting vein and not bo be stilted or pedagogic.

I thank you for your kind interest in these broadcasts and for your letters informing me about them. My children have urged me to write of my early experiences on the Frontier. This broadcasting incident is giving me my stride, so I will make some effort "believe it or not" hoping that something worth while may come out of this situation.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs. Winnie Davis Hale
Pampa, Texas

Replying to your letter of January 5 I would have enjoyed an enterview with you. It may be that you will come to San Angelo later, if so I will be glad to see you.

I note what Dr. L. F. Sheffy says about protecting all of my material and observing every wish. This gives me a better idea as to what I can offer for your files of historical data for the museum at Canyon.

I recall that I met a Captain Sharp, as I now remember his name, who was in charge of the Indian Scouts for General McKenzie's army when Quana Parker was marooned in the Paladura canyon. When Captain Sharp found that I was familiar with the terrain he took an interest in giving me his experience in capturing Quana Parker's 1500 horses. This far his story might contain nothing that is not well known. The detail account of getting possession of these horses and executing Major McKenzie's orders in killing the horses may contain interesting details which are not generally known. I would like to have such details as you now have before you relating to this incident so I can add the features that were supplied to me. Captain Sharp was glad to review this experience because he was familiar with all the country which was covered by General McKenzie in this campaign. He was also familiar with General Shafter's operations at the Big Spring in Crosby County where traces of the rifle pits are still visible. My friend, W. S. Mabry, and party were protected by this Shafter camp at the Big Spring in Crosby County in 1875. Mr. Mabry was with a surveying party which located many land certificates in this vicinity at that time, as he has related in "Panhandle Plains Historical Review", Vol. II, Page 22. I may not be able to add anything to what is already known about General Shafter's supply camp at the Big Spring in Crosby County, however if I had before me details that are now known something more might be added.

I began surveying on the Texas frontier in 1885. The bones of buffalo had not been gathered and the bones of Quana Parker's horses were one of the interesting sights which remained several years after I came to the Panhandle.

I reached Tascosa a few months after the boys who are burried on Boot Hill were killed and I am familiar with Northwest Texas incidents connected with that period. I was in the Big Bend country during the winter of 1888 and 1889. I suppose incidents in that area would not pertain to your collection.

I went on the Santa Fe train to a point North of Enid and joined in the race for homes and town lots when the land rush was on in Oklahoma. My experiences were at Enid at that time. I have not seen in print a good description of that event just as it happened with all of its social and historical peculiarities. I suppose this event does not relate to your collection.

This letter is intended to accompany inclosures which were requested by you. I am inclosing a carbon of this letter to Mr. L. F. Sheffy for his information.

Yours truly,

Mrs. Winnie Davis Hale
508 Courthouse
Amarillo, Texas

Dear Mrs. Hale:

Replying to your letter of August 15th I have been looking through my files undertaking to select old records that might be of general interest for your collection and at the same time covering details which are not generally available to the public. In this class I find the first map which was made in the Texas Land Office to show the leagues which had been surveyed for the purpose of building a new capitol. These lands had two corners marked on the ground for each league. These marked corners are indicated by small circles on the map which I have before me. I do not recall just how the public was informed of this opportunity but I do know that a man by the name of Major Babcock interested his son-in-law Abner Taylor in looking into the proposition intending to build the capitol and receive title to the lands as surveyed by the State as shown on this plat.

Following out this opportunity Major Babcock came to Mobeetie, then known as Ft. Elliott and obtained equipment to make the trip over these lands. He proceeded to Tascosa, the district land capitol of the Northwest, and there employed W. S. Mabry, district surveyor, to pilot him over the lands. They proceeded from Tascosa to Buffalo Springs in Dallam County. They then found the John H. Clark Northwest corner of Texas which had been recognized in the State survey of these lands and from that position they traced out the land corners, which at that time were fresh and plain, preserving a continuous reference line from Buffalo Springs Southward through the lands some two hundred miles to the Yellow Houses in Hockley County.

A full detail account of the inspection has been written and published in the Texas Frontier of March 1938 by Mr. W. S. Mabry who at this time lives at his ancient family homestead at Selma, Alabama.

You probably already know that I was employed by the Capitol Freehold Land and Investment Company, Ltd. in the month of January 1886 to serve as their engineer and surveyor in the field, marking land lines on which pasture fences were to be built and locating sights for drilling wells; also staking out and supervising construction of earth tanks and earth excavations to provide water for 40,000 head of cattle which were being delivered to stock the Capitol Lands at that time. This service required me to work without shelter in advance of all improvements including water development itself. Some of these experiences might be told where the peculiar circumstances furnish a variety from what is usually presented as frontier incidents.

Reverting to the map of the Capitol lands I have an old blue print which was used by me in the early days. I have, at two different times actually re-surveyed and made maps on a large scale of all of these leagues so I have no occassion to use the old map so I am suggesting that I can contribute this document provided it is of interest generally and in line with your curios. I will explain that the map is folded and inclosed in an envelope 12" X 18" which protects it for mailing. It may be best to ship it by express with some other material which I may find.

The larger scale maps of the Capitol land show full details of creeks, drains, and land marks generally so they may be of interest. I have duplicate copies of most of these sheets and I can supply them for observation if desired, however I prefer that these resurvey maps be not copied by photostat or tracing or otherwise, for they constitute my private files, so the offer is contingent on their use as curios rather than for business purposes.

While resurveying the land for the company 1914 to 1916 inclusive when I accompanied the surveyors sent out by the state to determine the excess in the capitol leagues I went through the old files in the State capitol and collected the pamphlets and bulletins relating to the capitol lands which had been printed in 1882 and ending in 1888. I believe this collection is a complete record of all that happened in locating, in disposing of and in building the State capitol. I believe such a collection could not be had at this time. The group is bound in red morocco and is marked "Texas State Capitol C. F. L & I Co." Any information that is in this book may be copied and used by anyone for it is in fact a public record which is not available. Incidentally I will mention that the statutes under which the lands were appropriated are included in this group. I am not sure that my children will consent to parting with the ownership of this book but I am sure that it can be used for display if it is in line with your collection. The contract for surveying the Capitol leagues dated July 15, 1879 is set out in the book here mentioned. The contractor was paid 7,440 dollars for surveying and marking these leagues. Incidentally one bid of four thousand dollars was rejected because the party could not give bond to deliver the service.

After you have considered the subject matter presented please write me your conclusions and suggest what use will be made of these documents and how they will be preserved if I contribute them to your collection.

After completing my field work on the Capitol lands in the year 1886 I was employed by W. S. Mabry to assist him in his general surveying work in the Oldham land district. One of the first duties that I performed was to prepare a map of the town site of Tascosa intending to bring out its natural water facilities and its general merits because the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad then had built as far as Quanah and was to build on to Denver in 1887. Of course Tascosa expected to be one of the important cities on this line. Some extra work was done to make this plat attractive. While we did not have general facilities for compiling and lettering maps at Tascosa I did the best I could with common writing pens and common ink, and I prepared a plat on tracing linen. The map was attractively colored with green, brown, blue and perhaps some other shades for use in our office at Tascosa. The railroad was added to the plat after it was located in 1887. This plat was not properly protected among the records at Tascosa and it was found in an old adobe building which had collapsed from age and rain fall. The plat was damaged almost beyond recognition. I attempted to dry clean this plat but had little success. I then made several blue line prints of it in its damaged form. I afterwards concluded that the plat should be traced off and colored again as it was in the original. I have done this recently at considerable expense to myself. I now have two black line prints of this plat which incidentally show all of the buildings that were in Tascosa in 1886 and the plat now shows the names of the residents at that time. I loaned this information to be used in the Golden Anniversary edition of the Amarillo News and they made a rough sketch showing the details that are of interest to the general public and published it in their Golden Anniversary edition page 24 Section D. If you find this information might be desirable for your collection I will present a black line print for that purpose without coloring or if an exact replica colored as the original map appeared is desired my draftsman will complete the job free or cost as you may select. Of course this will take sometime. Incidentally the map presented in the Golden Anniversary edition gives a meager suggestion as to what the original map is. The map itself is three feet by six feet in size.

Amarillo, Texas

Dear Sir:

I have not received names on the Tascosa map in time so I can place them on the clean map which I have traced from the original and get them in the big issue of the Amarillo Daily News. I have finished this map on tracing paper and I want the names which you write on that blemished map so we will have all of the information complete. Be careful to get the names of people who were there in 1886. You were nine or ten years old I suppose. 1886 is before I came to Tascosa. I began working for Mr. Mabry in December 1886 and this is the first thing I did. The map was made on large paper and the railroad was added later after it was located on the ground so the railroad is later than the date for the town map.

No matter what the paper did about using the map Please recall the names of these oldtimers and write them in pencil so I can get the spelling correct and I will letter them neatly on the clean map. If you want a copy of this clean map I will send it to you and I will send you a print of the blemished map if you would like to have that. If the paper cares to print the traced clean map in a subsequent issue they can have it for that purpose.

Mr. John McCarty

Dear Sir:

Under separate cover I am mailing you a map of Tascosa which I made for McMasters and Mabry, owners of the original town sight. This map was compiled in the Month of December, 1886 from scrap records and deeds. The Rinehart addition did not belong to McMasters and Mabry but it was included to complete the Tascosa townsite.

At their request I supplied markings which indicate the various business houses and the residence buildings which comprised the entire town at that time. Tascosa increased some during the year 1887 when the railroad was built and a bridge was constructed across the Canadian River. The original plat was made large enough so the bridge and the railroad could be added later when the railroad was finally located. I had thought this map might be of interest to your special issue so I conferred with John Snyder who lives at 1008 Tyler Street, Amarillo, Texas, and requested him to write with pencil the names of occupants of the various buildings on another map which I left with him. John was perhaps ten years old in 1886 and he is the one man that can put these names on this map. I did not arrive in Tascosa until late in 1886 so I am unable to correctly place these names on the map but when I get the names in pencil from John Snyder I will letter them neatly on a clean map which I have traced from the blurred and soiled original map. The old map lay in an adobe building with the roof gone years before it was salvaged after everyone except Mrs. Mickey McCormick had abandoned the town.

Of course these names could be lettered on the old defaced map but my idea is to letter them on a cleanly traced map which is colored and is an exact replica of the original map. You may or may not care for this picture of the past, however that may be I want John to return the names to me either on the map that I left with him or on the one I am sending to you.

Tascosa is one of the lost land marks of the primitive frontier and it will have a place in traditions so I am resurrecting this old archive for those who may be interested in the details that it depicts.

I now notice the position of the printing office. It reminds me of the editor's public appeal to advertise the wholesome climate. His statement was "Boothill Burying ground has only two occupants who died natural deaths. One of them died from drinking too much whiskey and the other one died from not drinking enough." The facts back of this story were that an Italian Fiddler, an alcoholic addict, was placed in jail to sober up without whiskey. He died from the shock. The other "Natural death" was from delirium tremens.

For some reason John does not put the names on my map and he does not write to me. This is your authority to hang one John Snyder of 1008 Tyler Street, by the neck until he breaks down and writes names on Tascosa map as above herewith provided. Herein fail not! ← Orders to hang one John S.

I am submitting this map to you so you can communicate with John and furnish me some explanation why he has not given me these names; and if you are interested you can have him write the names on one of the maps and forward it to me. If the map is suitable to be presented on a reduced scale in your historical section you may use it for that purpose or omit it as you prefer.

The original map showed all water colored blue, the lagge letters and all buildings were colored brown, the trees colored green and it had a colored border, all of which may not have been perfect art but it was an attempt to make an attractive map that would prevent Cheyenne, now Magenta, from becoming a metropolis. They, in fact, exterminated each other.

request to proof read map

Dear Sir:

Referring again to the old defaced map of Tascosa I am now requesting that you send me the map which John Snyder wrote names of residents on and permit me to proof read those names before the map is published. That arrangement is in line with my original proposition which contemplated that John would write the names on the map returning it to me so I could have them placed on a clean map in my office or on the defaced map as you might prefer if you cared to publish the map. The point I am making is that I was not a resident of Tascosa at the time this map was made but I took up my abode there in December so the names of the parties are intended to be those who occupied the houses when I spotted them on the map. John had lived in Tascosa a few years before I came and he lived there or near there several years after I moved to ~~Amarillo~~. Under these circumstances John could get the wrong names on the map so I want to proof read the map and O. K. the names. I believe there is time for me to do this. I could wire any possible corrections if time is short. I believe you will agree I am entitled to this since the map is being printed ~~under~~ over my name as its compiler. - they made John the Compiler approx. values map

Dear John:

The Tascosa map has just been returned to me. I think the little map which you and H. H. Hutson built is a good representation of the original. In writing to John McCarty I am approving the map except that I suggest that Dan Cole did not arrive until 1887 which is not important and I suggest that Twichell has no T in the middle of his name. I insist that my survey locating the buildings in Tascosa was made in the fall of 1886 and my map was made in December of that year. I do not understand why the draftsman changed the date to 1887. The map was used in 1887 and distributed on the first train that Montgomery brought when he put on a sale of lots at Cheyenne. The Lumber company was added in 1887 but I found everything else that is shown on the map, on the ground as shown, except Billy the Kid's last camping place. Billy had moved out of the picture before I came to Tascosa. I think you have done a good job and I find your memory is clear as to actual residences. This proves you are not getting old and I expect to continue seeing you for many years hence.

I thank you for this information and I am glad that the public can have this picture of town along with other things which had to do with developing the country which people are now interested in.

Dear Sir:

I have received the disfigured Tascosa map and the printed map which has been constructed from my survey locating the buildings on the plat adding John Snyder's information about the residents. I have looked into the names which John assigns for the residents and I find he is correct for the year 1886 except No. 86 showing Dan Cole's residence. This is correct for 1887 but Dan Cole was not in Tascosa in 1886 so this is not important. My survey was made and the buildings located in the fall of 1886 and the map was made in December of that year so there is an error in the date which should 1886 and there is no T in the middle of Twichell's name.

In 1886 Tascosa Creek was not as wide as it is now and it flowed almost exclusively down Water Street and did not infringe on the town property as is indicated by the John R. Snyder replacement map. This is not material but it would have been in 1886. I hope you can correct the spelling of my name. It is correct on my map, it is correct on my letter heads and I sign it correctly so there is no occasion to misspell it.

The wagon bridge across the Canadian River was built in 1887. To us at that time the fact that it was in round numbers eight hundred feet long was important. The bridge on the John Snyder map is three hundred feet long. This may not be important at this time. The north line of the river is in the right position. It is correct to not show the Fort Worth & Denver Railroad on the original map. The Railroad line was surveyed a few months later but the railroad was not constructed until mid summer in 1887. What is shown on the map was there in 1886 except the lumber yard which was added in 1887.

I am sure this map as made will be of interest to the public.

Mr. John McCarty
Editor Amarillo Daily News
Amarillo, Texas

Dear Sir:

I have before me your letter of July 19 and also the extra copy of the Tascosa disfigured map. I am sure that I do not know the process of reducing the map which you mention and I am not familiar with making the cuts from which newspapers make prints. As mentioned before I have undertaken to clear up this Tascosa map by making a faithful tracing of the original which is a complete replica except that I have made the lot numbers black faced instead of hollow letters.

When I get the names as written on the map by John Snyder I expect to letter the names on the face of the large map to designate the homes, store buildings etc. My process will require that an exact photostat be taken which is ¼ the surface area of the large map then a second photostat will be made reducing the map to 1/16 the size of the original. This will produce a photostat 8½ by 16 inches. From this I would make a zinc etching the size wanted for a printed map getting a result which I have used many times on my official field notes, samples of which are inclosed. These plats made from zinc etching will leave the lot numbers too small to be read with the naked eye. The sample showing Cochran County School Leagues demonstrates that the small letters are true enough to be read with a magnifying glass. The sample of Block R2 was reduced less so the numbers are plain. If labor numbers had been made larger in the Cochran County School leagues those numbers would be readable.

This discussion is an attempt to confer with an experienced newspaper man so that I amy be advised whether or not you have a more practical method of reproducing this or any other old map which I might wish to print on a smaller scale. The method I use reproduces every feature of the map by photographic processes so the reproduction is exact and unquestionable while a map that is copied by a draftsman may or may not reproduce the original precisely. I will be glad to get your anniversary edition. I am inclosing a dollar for two extra copies. I am now a subscriber for your paper.

The "Horse power" picture which your official letter head carries is suggestive of a scene which I enjoyed in March 1886 that might be told using your official picture as part of the illustration. The experience is not duplicated in the one-third of a century which I spent in the wilderness observing wild horses and wild game in their habitat. Briefly told it was at sunrise when vision is not only clear but amplified. I picked up with my 29 power telescope a Mexican horseman stealthily moving by the side of his mount toward a large group of wild horses that were quietly grazing on the prairie. The horse was trained

— Staff Photos by RON MARLOW

Amarillo contains numerous examples of architecture from the early 1900s, although some of the most striking have been torn down in recent years. The Helen Hutcheon home at 716 S. Pierce St., shown at left, once was the residence of the man who originally laid out the sites of Amarillo and many other Texas towns, Willis D. Twichell. The surveyor also founded the old Amarillo High School at this site after the collapse of the Amarillo School System in 1895. The big yellow house at 1500 S. Buchanan, center, dates from about 1910 and originally was the residence of J.W. Danner, a farmer. Long a familiar sight in the city, the fancy designed house at 818 S. Buchanan, with its intricate woodwork and cut-glass windows, belonged to one Gustavus Kilbourne back in 1907.

Dear Mr. Holland:

Replying to your letter of January 2, the first map that was ever made showing the entire Tascosa town site was compiled by me from the records in December, 1886, and it was used that ~~year~~ 1887 to display the opportunities of Tascosa because the Fort Worth & Denver was then building from Quanah on toward Denver. The map was displayed in several colors which are now not discernible on the original because it has been exposed to water and dirt until much of it is not legible. On this account I have retraced an exact copy of the original and I can make black line prints from this tracing. I can make blue line prints of the original showing all of the defects if you would prefer that as a keepsake; that is, just as it was found in an old building and forwarded to me.

I have a black line print which has been colored as a replica of the original as it appeared in 1886. This is hand work and costs considerable money. I can make another black line print and color it as above for $12.50. I can send you a plain black line print for $2. 50.

Yours truly,

Mr. W. D. Twitchell,

Amarillo, Texas.

Dear Sir:-

Replying to your letter of 28th ult.. I have to say that I wrote to Mr. Trigg first because, your last letter to me was so grossly insulting that I felt that further correspondence with you was impracticable, second, because he did the actual work on the ground, and had discussed matters with me regarding the work, and I thought would more fully understand what I wanted than any one else.

My acquaintance with Mr. Trigg had impressed me with the idea that he was an honorable and fair minded man, and being your brother-in-law, would certainly not wrong you in the premises. I expected of course that he would show my letter to you, and with your authority give me the data I wanted. I certainly did not intend any insinuation against you in the letter, and I have carefully re-read it since receiving yours, and find nothing in it, which I think can fairly be construed to be offensive. I referred to the facts relating to the work done for me, and for which I paid, to call his and your attention to the justness of my request, and for no other purpose.

In the contract you make with me through my attorney, you agreed to do the work around Block H. for Mr. Cobel Mr. Traylor and myself, if they would agree to having it done, and I was informed by them that they had so agreed. You have never explained to me why you failed to do the work as agreed. The fact, however, is that you did not do it, and whether your actions in that regard is justifiable or not, it leaves me without any report or return for my money on all that part of the work, which was done along the River, in the effort to properly locate Block H. and my surveys around it.

I have twice written to my attorney, asking him to see you and call your attention to the situation, but have been unable to get any response. The first time he reported your absence from the city, and to my last request I have had no reply.

While the field notes you sent of the surveys or a part of them in Blk M. 22,23 and 25 were very complete and satisfactory, the plats you sent were simply blue prints without courses or distances, and while entirely proper for the Land Office, were not such maps as I expected under your contract, which calls for complete maps.

When I was in your office last, Mr. Trigg was preparing a very complete map of the North Side of the Canadian River, which was nearly finished at that time. I expected that I would be furnished a copy of this map, as it was largely made from data obtained for surveying for which I paid, and I am under the impression that the bulk of the work done on this map was done on time for which I have already paid.

Of course you and Mr. Trigg know better about this than I do.

You furnished me a tracing of the North end of this map, covering the lands belonging to the Pease Estate and the North ends of Blks 23 and 25, and all of Block 22, so that I do not need that portion of it again, but if you have the complete map and can blue print the whole of it more conveniently than a part, I would like to have it.

If this map was not so completed around Block H., as to show the position, and dimensions of the surveys around that Block, I would like you to have a working sketch prepared of that section, which would show these lands correctly, so that I may get some other surveyor to run them out on the ground, and thus get the benefit of the expenditure I have made in paying you for work already done.

I am willing of course to pay for any additional time it is necessary for you or Mr. Trigg to put in on this work.

I am writing this letter fully to you in the belief that you will get a better understanding of what I want that I could convey to you through my attorney, who is not a surveyor.

I would like the plat or map that I get to show all the surveys on the North side of the Canadian River, of which I gave you a list before you made the survey, with their dimensions as far as you are able to figure them from the work and connection lines you actually run. I would like also the length of the lines or quantity of land contained in the small survey in the name of Jane Gammell, No. 6 on the South side of the River near Dixon Creek. I would also like the distances around the Mary Whitley survey as far as you are able to give them from the work done. You sent me a Blue print of the Mary Whitley running over to the H&T C Block 47, but it had no distances marked on it showing the length of lines or anything by which I could estimate the quantity of land., and I would like you to mark the distances on a copy of the blue print.

I would like to hear from you either directly or through my attorney as you may prefer.

I want Nothing more than I am entitled to, and am willing to pay for any extra time or trouble that may be required to give me what

I feel that I am entitled and I think you will concur with me to all the information developed by the work for which I paid you, and it is my impression that a copy of the general map you prepared, with possibly some slight additions in the way of distances and courses of lines around surveys owned by me, and not heretofore reported in the way of field notes , would be the easiest and least expensive way to give it to me.

Mr. W. B. Munson,

Denison, Texas.

Dear Sir:-

I have your letter stating that Mr. Coble is ready to survey, and since you seem to think that this matter is arranged, it will be necessary to explain that Mr. Coble has been ready to survey all the time. The difficulty in the matter was caused by Mr. Traylor adding a number of conditions aside from the conditions which Mr. Coble and yourself had agreed to, upon which he would permit me to proceed with the surveying.

I at once wrote you that these conditions prevented the agreement from being such an agreement as is contemplated in law, for evidently the minds of the parties were not together upon these propositions, and therefore there was no agreement and nothing upon which I could proceed. This matter is still in that condition.

I do not think that Mr. Traylor will permit any one to survey his lands unless he can tell him exactly where to place the corners and everything about it, and I find that he does not pay for the work which I have already done, and therefore it will be necessary that arrangements be made with Mr. Traylor, overcoming these obstacles before I can proceed.

This is a very brief explanation, but it will propably get the matter before you correctly.

The other matters which you mention in your other letters will be looked after by me if I could get them in a condition so that it was possible for me to do so. It seems to me that it is impossible for me to attempt to straighten matters when you forget what you have done, what orders have been given to me, and what your requirements were when I was on the ground, what you refuse to let me do, and what I was able to do under your directions.

These matters lead to so many complications, it is impossible for me to attempt to straighten them by letter or otherwise with you.

I have gone to your attorney's office and notified him that I was ready to dictate a full explanation to his stenographer and to him at any time he would come to my office for that purpose during the next three or four days.

He did not see how it was possible for him to do this, and requested me to tell him about it. I told him that if I talked at all, I would talk to a stenographer, and I wanted to get the matter in shape so that he could attend to it by correspondence during my absence, as I am not in Amarillo only a small part of my time.

This is the way the matter now stands, and presuming that your attorney has not written you explaining the situation, I am giving you this that you may understand how your interest is progressing.

I stand ready at all times to carry out my part of the work, regardless of any injustice which I believe you have done me, and I will do so if I am permitted, but I can not undertake to explain by letter to a man who forgets as many things as you do.

In 1892 I undertook to get the Land Commissioner to adopt a plan that would dispose of curvature for county lines in the Panhandle; and which would permit four counties to corner at a common point. After careful consideration with Chief Draftsman the Commissioner in a frank visit with me said "Twichell you will have ti quit fooling with that curve stuff. Just run all those counties 30 miles square". I was the first man that traced the New Mexico east boundry through and found a jog; and I varified the marked line was several miles west of the true 103° W.L. All of my work was adjusted to conform with asimuth of polaris. I gave correct magnetic declination at the time of each observation.

The Land Office Chief Draftsman rejected my work as inaccurate "because the needle readings did not check uniformly. I have urged a Grid System since that experience; and many others. The Land Office has corrected these attudes, and is squarely behind us now so I want to help every way I can.

Trigg sent me H. B. 657. I suggested some simple additions which are expressed in red on the copy of Bill I am inclosing. I think these additions make the Bill more understandable, and Senatows will pass it more readly.

Authorization

Authorization for the preparation of this report was given by Mr. Trigg Twichell of Austin, Texas, in April 1962.

Purpose

The purpose of this report is to analyze the production history of the W. D. Bryant, W. F. Robertson No. 1 Well, Yates Pool, Pecos County, Texas, from August 1952 (time of a previous report on this same property) to date and to set a value on the interest owned by the late Mr. W. D. Twichell as of October 1, 1959, and further to determine the value of said interest as of the end of December, 1961.

Scope of Work

A previous report, dated December 15, 1952, set out the geological aspects of the area of the Yates oil field in the vicinity of the Robertson lease and more specifically pointed out the reservoir conditions prevailing in this portion of the field. No review of this information is necessary except in the instance of the free gas cap which exists in this part of the field. This will be dealt with later in a discussion of the basis for estimating the probable remedial work which may reasonably be expected on the W. D. Robertson well during the latter years of depletion of the field. Production of oil has been established by examination of the records available from the Oil and Gas Division of the Texas Railroad Commission. This data is also utilized in arriving at the estimate of remaining recoverable reserves, and the effects of substantially reduced withdrawals, prompted by current proration practices, are considered in the final determination of the present worth of the mineral interest of the W. D. Twichell estate in the aforesaid W. D. Robertson well.

Production of Oil

Total production of oil from the W. D. Robertson No. 1 well since August 1952 to date is presented in Table I. From August 1952 to October 1959, total oil produced amounted to 744,805 bbls, and that accruing to the W. D. Twichell interest was .08683338 x 744,805 bbls or 64,674.2 bbls. To the end of December 1961, the comparable production figures are 876,382 bbls and 76,099.6 bbls respectively. Cumulative oil production from the time of drilling the well to October 1959 was 3,633,741 bbls, while that to December 31, 1961, was 3,765,318 bbls. For the entire field (see Table II) comparable figures show production of 459,662,501 barrels of oil through 1959 and 469,943,630 barrels to the end of 1961. As may be seen,

74594

FRANK W. JESSEN
CONSULTING ENGINEER
2507 INWOOD PLACE
AUSTIN 3, TEXAS

substantial reduction in annual production has taken place in the past 5 or 6 years. The 1961 production from the Bryant W. D. Robertson Well No. 1 is the lowest since 1941, and set a new low for the entire period over which the well has been producing.

Estimated Recoverable Reserves of Oil to Depletion of Lease

To date of December 31, 1961, the W. F. Robertson well had produced 3,765,318 barrels of oil while the production to October 1, 1959, was 3,633,741 barrels. Since the end of July 1952 (date of last production figures given in report dated December 15, 1952) to the dates referred to above, the amount of oil produced has been 876,382 barrels and 744,805 barrels for the respective periods. For the field as a whole the comparable cumulative production figures show 469,943,630 barrels of oil produced through December 31, 1961, and 458,152,500 barrels up to October 1, 1959. Assuming the originally estimated recovery of 40,000-50,000 bbls/acre to be reasonably correct, it is evident the production to date represents between 43.4 and 54.2 per cent of the ultimate recoverable oil to have been produced. Because of the advantageously located structural position of the Bryant W. F. Robertson well, practically the same conclusion must be drawn relative to the remaining recoverable oil reserves. That is, considering that production to date of October 1, 1959 represented 54 per cent of the recoverable oil, and assuming oil production to proceed in the same

FRANK W. JESSEN
CONSULTING ENGINEER
2507 INWOOD PLACE
AUSTIN 3, TEXAS

manner as in the past, the estimated remaining recoverable reserves as of October 1, 1959, are 3,091,259 bbls while those of December 31, 1961 are 2,959,682 bbls.

As pointed out previously, the position of the gas varies (i.e., the thickness of the gas cap changes, resulting in either migration of oil into the gas cap area when the thickness decreases, or displacement of oil by gas when the gas cap advances (increases in thickness). Migration of oil into the gas cap area will result in loss in ultimate recovery. At the same time, however, too rapid expansion of the gas cap will not provide as efficient a recovery of oil as that obtainable by water displacement. Some regression of the gas cap has taken place during the operation of the field in the past, but generally increases have occurred in the thickness. During the past 10 years the gas cap thickness has increased 8 to 9 feet, though regressions have also occurred. Furthermore, increased water production during the latter years of production of the lease will make operations more difficult and expensive, and may possibly require several workover jobs. Such jobs may require shutting off excessive gas or water production.

Estimated Value of the W. D. Twichell Estate Interest in the Bryant - W. F. Robertson Well

The interest owned by the W. D. Twichell Estate is an operating interest and amounts to 8.683338 per cent.

Because of the nature of the type of income derived from the production of oil, i.e., an average monthly amount over the next 20 to 25

FRANK W. JESSEN
CONSULTING ENGINEER
2507 INWOOD PLACE
AUSTIN 3, TEXAS

years, to probable depletion of the lease, an analysis of the income expected over the above mentioned period of time will serve as a basis for estimating the present worth. From Figure 1, which depicts the cumulative oil production with time, four distinct periods of production history are apparent.

In estimating the present worth of the production from the W. F. Robertson well, the severely decreased rate of withdrawal must be taken into consideration. In other words, if the lease production is maintained at an average of that obtained during the last 4 years of approximately 63,500 bbls per year, this would account for a total production of 1,270,000 bbls in 20 years and 1,586,000 bbls in 25 years. Computing the value of such production as being received monthly (approximately 5270 bbls/mo) yields 5270 x .08683338 x $2.00 = $914.00/month or $10,968.00 annually to the W. D. Twichell Estate. Discounting this amount over the next 20 years at 5% results in a present worth of $135,343.

The analysis of the reservoir performance and prior production history of the Yates Field, and particularly that pertaining to the Robertson well was made without any limiting circumstances. That is, no account has been taken of possibilities of unitization of the field at any time in the future, no provision has been made of the possibility of continuance of low production rates or possible diminishing production due to stricter proration schedules,

FRANK W. JESSEN
CONSULTING ENGINEER
2507 INWOOD PLACE
AUSTIN 3, TEXAS

and no allowance was made for any variations in production which might be brought about by future economic or political situations.

Furthermore, the valuation obtained through consideration of future production, at decreased rates, which will not permit the total remaining recoverable oil to be produced, must be regarded as very realistic. Due to the program of imports of foreign crude oil now in practice and because of the very recent refusal of the Federal Agency in control of such imports to consider a request of the Texas Independent Oil Producers and Royalty Owners Association to modify the rules governing such imports, I feel much import should be placed on this means of establishing the present full market value of the W. D. Twichell Estate interest.

If one considers the present worth of $135,343 as that accruing from production based on the last several years (as an average) and reduces this by the same discount factor of 0.65, used in the previous report, the resulting value is $87,973.

Estimated Workover Costs to Abandonment

Depending on the future production history of the Robertson well, the time for any future remedial work is difficult to estimate. The expenses involved, therefore, are likewise not directly determinable. However, as pointed out in the discussion of the movement of both the gas cap and water on the lease, at some time during the next several years major workover

FRANK W. JESSEN
CONSULTING ENGINEER
2507 INWOOD PLACE
AUSTIN 3, TEXAS

operations undoubtedly will have to be performed. Estimated cost of a workover job to shut off gas if $7,000.00, and possibly 2 or 3 such jobs may be necessary, making a total expenditure of $21,000 probable. Plug back operations may also be required to control water production. Cost of such operations is estimated at $15,000.00. Hence, the W. D. Twichell Estate portion of future expenses dealing with well maintenance and/or workover will most likely be in the order of .08683338 x $36,000.00 = $3,126.00.

Summary

The present worth of the W. D. Twichell Estate interest in the W. D. Bryant - W. F. Robertson well as of December 31, 1961 is estimated at $87,973.00 and deducting the cost of future expenses of $3,126.00 the net value is reduced to $84,847.00. Similarly the present value as of October 1, 1959, considering the last 2 years of production prior to the date of the Estate (i.e. years 1958-59), is estimated to be $93,127.00.

Dear Mr. Twichell:

In bringing out a book a person has many experiences, good and bad. For there are so many angles. By far the most thrilling thing that has happened in connection with the publication of CATTLE EMPIRE is your fine letter. And I thank you for it. There is no doubt in my mind that you know more about the early days on the XIT than any other person on earth. I am, therefore, extremely happy that you find the book to your liking. When and if there is a revised edition, the errors you have pointed out will be corrected.

You probably don't know just how much of this general story I got from you. On several occasions I sat around the reunion at Dalhart and listened to you talk to others. I made mental notes and later rushed to my room and jotted them down. One time I rode in a car with you from Dalhart to Buffalo Springs and back and heard you tell a lot about the XIT. Everything that you told me, or that I heard you tell others, checked out exactly with the records.

I'm glad to have your note on the goats. I am told that there is a letter in the records about the goats. I looked for months for some official records on this, but failed to find them. But it is very possible for a man to go through that pile of records again and again and miss important papers. I'll get the goats into any revised edition.

Our meeting in San Angelo was most enjoyable, and I hope to have the pleasure of seeing you again very soon.

With thanks again and every good wish.

Sincerely,

Lewis Nordyke

Mr Lewis Nordyke

Dear Mr Nordyke:-

I have read your "fabulous story of the XIT" because I had lived in the midst of all that had developed from Texas' plan to survey three million acres, out of her public domain, to exchange for a most magnificient granite Capitol; and I was somewhat acquainted with the many persons, and their activities which are mentioned in your "Cattle Empire".

I was both surprised and amazed at the tremendous number of details and their wide variety which you have collected into a fascinating, interesting narrative. The entire composition carries amusing reminders of the reporter who discloses the answer and then talks about it. That method is adapted to a rational mind, and I believe our radio commentators would be better understood if they adopted this news reporting policy. Telling all about something and then telling what it is; then quickly pouncing into other mysteries continuing the confusion, gives listeners no opportunity to pigeonhole or define ideas which must land pellmell as if thrown into a barrel. I want to thank you for missing this pandemonium. Now I really know something about your book and I will enjoy mentioning it to others.

Your entire story flows in natural sequence, following the calander from the simplest topics to the most complex, each fitted to its current position so that every situation appears to be the natural incident presenting itself as the ~~occurrence~~ incident of the moment. I believe such refined and polished english has not been turned onto the open range before, yet it is quite at home with pure bred Angus and Herefords.

This story is not fictitious or mythical. It is natural, realistic, and marvelous beyond expectation. Placing the fencing, watering and other improving for three million acres was my assignment. which was a great pleasure.

This was unusual experience, but it was the easiest task for a Civil Engineer to mark where wells, buildings, and fences were to be placed; and later verify and o.k. the contractors work so he could be paid. Preforming such a service is the simplest part of an engineers life, so Mr Mabry did not bother about showing me what to do. He, in fact, had every detail placed for Colonel Campbell so that thousands of cattle that began pouring into the Yellow House branding pens, in May, were tallied, branded, and moved on toward their destination averaging more than a thousand head each day. This part of the work did not require Mr Mabry, so he worked in Hartely and Oldham Counties during the summer of 1886.

I joined Mr Mabry at Tascosa in November after I had finished my work for the XIT in October 1886. He employed me as assistant District Engineer during 1887. We surveyed large bodies of land belonging to the H&T C.RR Co. and others.

This incident of ranchmen acquiring land in Hartely and Oldham Counties along the State Line interrupts your last paragraph on page 111 where the XIT fence "streched one hundred and fifty miles without a single jog", between the Texas Panhandle and the Territory of New Mexico on the West". Large tracts of "Capitol Leagues Reservation" land had been sold and patented to A.E.Reynolds and others in the West part of Hartely and Oldham Counties, so Mabry probably did not locate a long fence on the West line of XIT in winters of 1885 -86. In fact I located 67 miles of this West fence in the summer of 1886. I began near the S.W.Cor. of Oldham County where I left a jog at S.W.corner of Brown-Manzarares Ranch. This is the only error I found in your book, so I think you did very well. I am reciting the corralated facts so you will be correctly informed. I have seen this same fence -marvel-statement in other publications, I would like to know who puts out this (marvel) story.

On page 114 "the legend of the goats" is true. There was no calf or "short yearlings" available for meat.

Mr Mabry was employed by the H and T.C. Land Department in 1888 and he continued this service until he returned to the home estate of his Father at Selma, Alabame.

I am volunteering these facts to clarify statements which seem to presume that W.S.Mabry was a long term assistant manager of the XIT. He served in that capacity from January to June 1886. You have omitted (probably purposely) the recovery of all excess land that was placed in the Capitol Leagues by the States own official original survey. I surveyed the entire three million acres tract for the XIT in this transaction.

Sincerely your "fan" and booster. You have done a good job: Cattle Empire deserves a wide circulation.

Dear Mr. Twichell,

Your letter came while I was away and I have been in such a rush while here that I have not written.

Have moved my family to Amarillo, and will be there a part of the time and out here some, still hold all my interest here and will also keep in touch with oil developments by being in Amarillo every week.

Wish you would see if you can get the Governor to sign the patent to the 33½ acre tract North of Sur. 33, Blk. 46, survey 46, Block V, M.G. Mathis, as this was awarded some time in Feb. and passed for patent by the land office, but it seems from what the Land office writes that it is being held up only for the Governor's signature; would be glad to get this patent as soon as possible.

In regard to your Sur. 50, Blk. V. 49.7 acres our understanding was that this was to be handled in the same baises as the 33½ acres tract, that is for me to have the work done here and pay the land out and receive the fee title and you hold a one-half royalty interest as to all menerals, if this is O.K. write me at 1010 West 13th, St. Amarillo, and let me know just when this money will have to be in Austin and I will dig it up.

Will see Mr. Hedgecoke and see if I can get the other information in regard to connection through to the Spiller corner.

Think it advisable to hold your land until we see what the oil developments are going to amount to in this County, everything is very un-settled at the present.

Yours very truly

Dear Sir:-
I am trying to be gratified that the information I sent you ~~xxx~~ is assisting, but the puzzle to me is, how it is assisting. We do not see alike is the first premis that I feel safe on. You regret that I did not send you the"name"of the 141 that I refer to.I am guessing that you mean that all will be clear to you if I give you the original grantee of the 141 that ~~it~~ has an identified corner, which is the only identified corner that the San Augustine School Leagues could possibly build from.The grantee is often omitted on the maps,, but the county and the rivers are seldom omitted; there are a great many 141 H.& O. B. surveys in Texas, but there is only one survey 141 Block 2, on White River in Crosby and Kent counties; and my letter recites a line 22 miles long, tracing north in Block 2, so I am surprized that you should jump on a little Block C2 in a county not mentioned in my letter, and nowhere near White River. Here is my statement:-

"In retracing the original surveys in Block 2, on White River, in Crosby and Kent countise, the state surveyor ran N2° 158 W 5 miles; Thence N 1° 16' W 5 miles; Thence N57½ W 8 miles; Thence Norht 3 miles; Thence n 1° 31½E 1 mile.There is a stone monument at each end of this last mile, but the NW corner of 143, or ~~the~~ the north corner is not identified, and really is not an ~~xxx~~ original corner(I supposed you would infer that the other corner was an original corner, and that it was identified, and that it is the original corner that I am trying to tell you about, and I now see that I was not warranted in so infering, for you conclude that if my description does not fit some 141 that you find on some map you happen to have , of some other county, that I have made a mistake.)
Here is your statement about the above:-

I, *regret that you did not give me the nome of the survey No. 141, to which you refer, but presume that it is East Line & Red River, which is on, or about on the line of Hale County, but you say Block 2, and the map which I have shows this is Block C2.I notice  that you speak of the Northwest corner of 143, but ~~you~~ I presume that was a typographical error, and intended to be 141."

If you will contemplate the above statements from an unbiassed standpoint I believe that you will agree with me that the prospect to win this case is gloomy. If the star witness can't tell a thing without having FIVE errors in the statement,and without omitting the only truth which you infer he is trying to tell about, it surpasses my ability to comprehend how you expect to win this case, until you have coached that witness some. I suppose it is reasonable to suppose that an(able enough) attorney can learn all about his case after he gets on the ground to try it, but I can see no use in me going to testify if the attorney can not accumulate ideas more readily from my broken english. Aside from this it does not seem to be good generalship to presume that the opposing side will furnish the necessary evidence,"if you do not object" That's playing them for fools a bit too much to strike my fancy.You say:-"Possibly ~~M~~ Standefer will furnish this information, and doubtless he will, even though hearsay, if we do not object." After appreciating these features with the greatest charity possible I am not in the least disturbed that you can not rely on an important witness that I suggested, and gave his address viz Geo Spiller , of Jacksborough, but I confess I can not see that it is a better policy to get this data from Standefer, whom I stated knew nothing of this matter except the two north corners.It may be true that nothing has all grades of meaning in law, but I meant nothing as ordinary people are in the habit of useing the term. If we have a chance to,compare lexicons, and rules of rhetoric ,I will feel more at ease.

I do not wish to be unkind , and I appseciate the kind words, and the good things that you say in you letter, but to be frank with you I must confess that I do not believe that my letter conveyed an idea to you, and I am really distressed about that fact.

Now I do not believe that this case can be won until the leading attorney is familiar with the whole matter, Youncan communicate with Geo. Spiller at Jacksborough as quickly as you can with me,and ascertain what he will testify to, before taking his deposition, and it seems to me that his testimony may be vital, or I would not have mentioned it. If you can not rely on the facts that I suggest that you prove by Spiller, then it seems to me you should know as much about the facts as I do before discarding this testimony altogether, and relying on the enemy to bring it in if you need it. Nelson made the survey I referred in 1873, so you will see that there is no one in the country that you can prove this fact by, but there is a man in san Antonio who was with the party, and you probably know him favorably as do most of us in NW Texas and that man is Mr. W.S. Mabry who is working with Col. C.C. Gibbs, for the H.& T.C. Co. Yet, since Geo. Spiller is the real surveyor, original, and the state surveyor that retraced Block 2, I do not think that you can establish the necessary facts, and draw the the necessary inference that I suggested, t o answer Standefers contention. I can not see that the privilege of the other side to cross Spiller has any advantage over their privilege to cross the other witness that you hope may be substituted. But the facts I have in mind can not be proved by any other witness than spiller, for Mr. Mabry was not with Spiller when he retraced Block 2.

If this case is to be called on or near the 28", I do not see how all of the testimony can be in shape by that time, and I can see no reason why a continuance can not be asked for. In the mean time we will learn all that will be proved by Standefer, Holt and others and be prepared to get certified copies and the necessary evidence to rebut. As matters stand I have no matured plan to work to, and therefore I can not suggest the necessary certified copies &c &c that will be needed. While this letter may look like I am trying to manage this case, I assure you I am not, and I only realize that I am an important witness; that I will be censured if this case is lost, no matter who is to blame, and that it is practically impossible for a lawyer to properly prepare a case of this kind by letter. The other side will be as well prepared as they can get, and if we are at all leary they will lick us. It is now very near the 28", and I need some notice as to the exact day the suit will be called, for I am very busy, and I have some very important matters on that very day, but I expect to be on hand if possible provided this case is called, but,I am very anxious that I will not be called to go to Lubbock, and then learn that the case is continued. I belive you will continue the case when you learn fully what it is, and therefore I am not expecting to be called to Lubbock this term. I will inclose some of my private maps, which I have used in resurveying this country, but unfortunately they are not certified maps and therefore can not be used in evidence, and by the time certified maps are made the date for this case will be passed. I hope that you will not permit any opportunity to mislay, lose , deface of damage these maps, for they can not be replaced I have used them in my work, and they are associated with all the facts.

Yours respectfully,
