POST-TOWNS, 13—Accomac Court House, (42216,) 368, Hayes, Chincoteague, Gargathy, Mount Pleasant, Onley, Parksley, Pungoteague, Temperanceville, Tyre, Wachapreague and Wattsville. Accomac Court House, and 123 miles east of Richmond, contains 2 churches, a jail, a clerk's office, a market, and about 15 inhabitants. Onancock, 10 miles north-east of Accomac, on the east shore of Chesapeake Bay, at the southern extremity of Onancock creek, 110 miles east by west of Drummondtown, 14 miles south of Accomac Court House, having 2 churches, a female academy, and about 200 inhabitants. Onley, 6 miles south-west of Accomac Court House, has a population of 102 souls; Savageville, Tennessee-ville, Wagram, and Wattsville—Populations of Accomac County, 14,336.

SOUTHAMPTON COUNTY, VA.

Organized in 1748, and named after Southampton, in England, in the south-southeast part of the State, bordering on North Carolina, and 70 miles south-east of Richmond. Nottoway River, and by the Blackwater River and Chuckatuck. Surface is nearly level, and extensively covered with forests of pine and cypress. Soil is sandy, and very productive. Pop. in 1790, 10,000; in 1850, 17,431; in 1860, 17,431, including 10,107 blacks. Of seven post-offices, each being the greatest in county ranked in population, Jerusalem, Hicksford, Newsoms, Sebrell, Smithfield, Walkers, valued, 3,393 houses, 3,393 families, 3,393 dwellings, 1,329 poorly, wood, 10,456 pounds; value of manufactures, $1,329 annually; value of real estate, $1,329,000; number of taxables, 3,393 whites, 3,393 blacks, 3,393 slaves, 3,393 males, 3,393 females, 3,393 persons.

JERUSALEM.—The county seat, is on the Nottoway River, 73 miles south-east from Richmond, and 30 miles south-west of Norfolk, 3,393 and several dwellings.

POST-TOWNS, 3—Jerusalem, Sebrell, Tyre, etc. Accomac, Melton, Drury's Bluff, Severn, Bowers's Hope, Bonneyclabber, Cabin Point, Chuckatuck, Nansemond, Nottoway, Portsmouth, Suffolk, Walkers, Wattsville, Wattsville, Wattsville