TEXAS

AUSTIN IS THE STATE CAPITAL.

Texas, "The Lone Star State," became a republic in 1836 and in 1845 was annexed to the United States, becoming a state.

The estimated present population is 4,429,566. The total land area is 262,398 square miles with a water area of 3,498 square miles; being the largest state in area. The extreme length north and south is about 735 miles while the breadth east and west is about 775 miles. It has about 400 miles of coast line.

LAND SURFACE.

The surface features are exceedingly varied, the coast or low-lying country consisting mainly of rich pastures, while the great center division is a well wooded, well watered and very fertile rolling prairie. Treeless plains occupy the northeast, mountains are found east of the Pecos river, forests in the eastern part of the state, and a hilly region covers almost all the southwest angle.

CLIMATE. . .

Covering such a large territory as it does, Texas naturally has a great variety of climate, but it can be said, as of no other territory of equal extent, that the climate as a whole is singularly equable and remarkably salubrious. Winds from the Rocky Mountains on the north, or from the Gulf of Mexico on the south, sweep over the state and make it a perpetual health resort for all the rest of the United States. Along the Gulf coast it is approximated that the sun shines 320 days in the year, and throughout the entire state very few days pass without some sunshine.

THE ALAMO.

The Alamo, located in the heart of San Antonio, was built for a mission by Franciscan monks in 1722 and was called San Antonio de Valerio. After 1793 it was used on occasion as a fort and renamed Fort Alamo. It has enduring celebrity as the scene of the battle and massacre of March 6th, 1836, in the war for Texan independence. The fort was held by about 140 men under W. B. Travis. A Mexican army of about 2,000 under Santa Anna attacked the garrison on Feb. 23rd. On the 6th of March the Mexicans captured the garrison, only five men being left alive and these were immediately butchered. Three women, two white children and a negro boy were the sole survivors of about 180 inmates. Afterwards the slogan of the Texans was "Remember the Alamo."

SAN JACINTO BATTLEFIELD.

In the memorable battle of San Jacinto, which was fought on April 21st, 1836, the Army of Texas, under General Sam Houston, smarting with the remembrance of the massacre of their comrades at the Alamo and Mission Goliad, attacked the superior forces of Santa Anna and completely annihilated them. This victory gave Texas her independence. The San Jacinto Battlefield is now a state park, being located near Houston.

THE MISSIONS.

In the vicinity of San Antonio are the picturesque ruins of several Franciscan missions.

Mission de la Concepcion or the First Mission, was founded and built between 1702 and 1731 and is located 2 miles south of San Antonio.

Mission San Jose de Aguayo, located four miles south of the city, built 1701-1728, is the most beautiful of the missions. The sculpture was the work of the celebrated artist Huica, sent from Spain for this purpose.

Mission San Juan de Capistrano, built in 1716, located five miles south of the city, is a most picturesque and typically Spanish ruin.

Mission Espada or Mission San Francisco de la Espada, nine miles south of San Antonio, was founded and built between 1698 and 1716. It is the best preserved of the missions and the main room is yet used as a chapel. The three chimes still hang in the belfry.

San Fernando Cathedral, founded in 1734, is one of the most magnificent churches in San Antonio. Most of this edifice is of more recent construction.

At Goliad is located Mission La Bahia.

TEXAS GULF COAST.

One of the great pleasure resort regions of the United States is along the Texas Gulf Coast. Here are located beautiful cities and fine ocean beaches, affording ocean bathing and fishing. The mild climate and ocean breezes make the district both a summer and winter resort much frequented by tourists.

STEAMSHIP AND BOAT LINES.

Located on the Gulf of Mexico and having a long coast line with many fine harbors, Texas is naturally a great shipping state and steamships from various parts of the world reach her ports. Along her coast ply steamers connecting her principal ports.

FORESTS.

The principal forests are in East Texas, and the prevailing growth is pine. In the western part of the forest region oak, hickory, and ash are common.

AGRICULTURE.

Texas lays just claim to a greater variety and richness of soil than any other state in the Union. The "Blackland" in the central portion is one of the finest agricultural areas in the world.

In common with other western states, the very western part of Texas needs irrigation to insure crops and irrigation is there successfully practiced, water being obtained from the large streams.

The state ranks high in the production of cotton and rice. In addition to these, the most important crops raised are corn, oats, wheat, tobacco, onions, sweet potatoes, watermelon, tropical fruits, etc.

The approximate value of some of the crops of Texas is as follows: corn $100,000,000; wheat $20,000,000; oats $45,000,000; barley $100,000; rice $9,000,000; potatoes $3,500,000; and hay $6,000,000. The largest crop of Texas is cotton, which has a value of over $300,000,000 per year.

STOCK RAISING.

Texas takes a leading position among the states of the Union in the industry of stock raising, which with agriculture is its main pursuit. The state ranks high in the production of cattle, sheep, mules and horses. The Panhandle of Texas, forming the northern portion of the state, is known the world over for its fine grazing lands.

MINERAL RESOURCES.

The state has important mineral resources. Salt, granite, lignite and bituminous coal, copper and iron ore, lime and sand stone are all found. Following is the approximate yearly value of some of the more important products of the state:

Asphalt $1,000,000; cement $2,500,000; clay products $2,000,000; gypsum $500,000; lime $200,000; mineral water $100,000; salt $300,000; sand and gravel $500,000; silver $300,000; and stone $700,000.

COAL.

The coal in Texas is both lignite and bituminous and the production amounts to over $3,000,000 per year.

PETROLEUM AND NATURAL GAS.

Texas ranks as one of the most important oil producing states, and the production of oil has built up flourishing cities. Oil indications extend all along the Gulf of Mexico. Large oil refineries are in operation. The petroleum production amounts to about $13,000,000 per year while the natural gas has a value of $2,500,000.

PUBLIC LANDS.

When Texas was admitted to the Union in 1845 she sold to the United States Government for $10,000,000 all the territory west and north of the principal boundaries between the headwaters of the Rio Grande and Arkansas, but she reserved the control and disposal of the public lands within her borders, which has proven a magnificent source of revenue to the state.

STEAM and ELECTRIC RAILROADS AND EXPRESS COMPANIES.

The following list gives the steam railroads of Texas in capital letters and the electric lines in small letters; and the names of the express companies doing business over each. Following the names of the railroads is a key to indicate the location on the map of the smaller railroads and the main lines of the larger systems. In the list of Cities and Towns, all railroads entering each town of 75 or more population, are indicated by abbreviations, as shown under the word "Symbol" in the following list.

CLASON'S COMMERCIAL INDEX OF TEXAS TOWNS

EXPLANATION.

POPULATION—In the column at the left of the name of the town, under the abbreviation "Pop." are figures to denote the population. Figures with a dagger (†) before them, are according to the 1910 census; those without the dagger are the estimated present population.

POST OFFICES are indicated by the abbreviation PO.

COUNTIES—Following the name of the town, is the name of the county in which it is located.

RAILROADS—All railroad stations having a population of 75 or more have the abbreviations of the railroad names. For the explanation of railroad abbreviations, look under the word "Symbol" in the list of "Railroads and Express Companies."

ELEVATIONS—Below the abbreviation "Alt." are figures indicating the altitude of the larger towns above sea level.

KEY—The letter and figures in the right hand column under the word "Key" refer respectively to the letter on the top and bottom of the accompanying map and the figures on each side of it; thus indicating the location of the town on the map.

RESOURCES—A brief description gives the industries and resources of the more important towns.

GARAGES AND HOTELS—Under the larger towns are given the names of one or more garages and hotels. The abbreviation "Am.," following the names of some of the hotels, indicates American plan, most of the other hotels being on the European plan.

FIVE SPECIAL FEATURES OF THE CLASON GREEN GUIDES

An Index of Towns gives up-to-date population figures, correctly describes the resources and industries, shows elevation above sea level and lists hotels, railroads and interurban lines.

Special City Maps show the business districts of important cities, locate depots, public buildings, hotels, etc.

Tables of Distances will be found in each Green Guide, showing the shortest railroad distance between the twenty most important cities of that state.

Railroad Distinctions plainly show whether each railroad is a trunk line, local or electric road.

Auto Roads are plainly shown on the map, a distinction being made between through posted routes and local roads. Thousands of Auto travelers find in the Green Guides all the information they require on their tours.

These are but a few of the live features of the Green Guides.
